S616. Protocol: A Guide to the Collegiate Audition Process for Alto Saxophone compiled and edited by Larry Clark and Daniel Schmidt with a Forward by Jonathan Bergeron. Carl Fischer, 2009, SS, 31 pages (plus piano accompaniment 16 pages). The purpose of this book is to provide high school students with or without a private teacher with a comprehensive collection of materials that will satisfy the needs of most college music auditions. It includes information on how to take an audition, music placement exams, selecting a college, and repertoire of the most often requested material. This includes major and minor scales and arpeggios, Orchestral Excerpts (Intermezzo from L'Arlésienne by Bizet and Musorgsky/Ravel The Old Castle from Pictures at an Exhibition), Etudes (No. 7 Largo and No. 12 Allegro furioso from Ferling), and two complete pieces with piano accompaniment (Eccles Sonata in G minor, LeClair Saraband and Allegro from Sonata Op. 1 No. 10). This book also has a list of repertoire included on most audition lists, all of which we carry.

S011. Saxophone by Paul Harvey. Kahn & Averill, London, 1995, PB, 149 pages. A very useful reference book on the saxophone. It includes history, the saxophone family, parts of the saxophone, fingering, tone production, special effects, doubling, repertoire (orchestral, quartet, and solo), methods, influential saxophonists, discography, unusual saxophones, and the saxophone today.

S958. The Saxophone Handbook by Douglas D. Skinner. Berklee Press, 2013, PB, 90 pages. A complete guide to playing and maintenance, this handbook offers essential information on all dimensions of the saxophone. It provides an overview of technique, such as breathing, fingerings, articulations, and more. Exercises will help you develop your sense of timing, facility, and sound. Extensive directions (with illustrations) on repairs will help you maintain your instrument and customize it to support your own playing style and preferences. You'll learn to fine-tune your reed, recork the keys, fix binding keys, replace pads, and many other repairs and adjustments. You'll also learn to improve your tone, intonation, and flexibility while playing with proper technique. While saxophone repair is only one of five chapters in this book, it does an excellent job of covering basic repairs and adjustments.

S060. The Saxophone Is My Voice by Ernest Ferron translated from the French by Jacqueline Rose. International Music Diffusion, 1997, PB, 117 pages. The author has drawn from his experience as a master instrument maker and from his contact with leading instrumentalists to produce a synthesis of his knowledge. The first 48 pages covers how a saxophone functions with details on Adolphe Sax's parabola, the neck, bow, tone holes, bell, mouthpiece, reeds, and tuning. The rest of the book is on the tools and techniques of saxophone repair and adjustment.

S606. Saxophone Manual by Stephen Howard. Haynes Publishing, 2009, HB, 164 pages. Written by a British saxophonist and instrument repairer this is a guide to: choosing and buying a saxophone, how the saxophone works and what can go wrong, lubrication and preventing wear, removing and refitting keywork, setting up the action, advanced repairs (replacing pads and springs), trouble shooting common problems, and major problems—when to call on a repairer. Profusely illustrated by color photographs.

S013. Saxophone Master Classes by Michael Eric Hester. Second Edition, 2003, PB, 76 pages. Dr. Hester has written this series of master classes as a resource for students of the saxophone, university instrumental methods classes, and those teaching or intending to teach the saxophone. Principal subjects include embouchure, air (breathing), articulation, vibrato, altissimo, practicing, and saxophone diagnostic (squeak, thin sound, bright or uncontrolled sound, and poor response).

WW026. Saxophone Mouthpiece Selection by Robert Scarff. Jamey Aebersold Jazz, 2006, SB, 88 pages. This book contains information on mouthpiece parts and design, guidelines in selecting a mouthpiece for the type of sound you need, facing charts for commercial saxophone and clarinet mouthpieces, and chamber designations of some representative brands of saxophone mouthpieces. This book also includes guidance on reed adjustments, some maintenance tips, and some musician jokes. While this book is primarily oriented toward the saxophonist, clarinetists will also find useful information here. NEW LOWER PRICE!

S400. Saxophone Studying Method by Jean-Marie Londeix. Lemoine, 1997, SB, 85 pages. This is not a method book in the conventional sense, but instead is a guide and text book for studying the saxophone. It is in four languages: French, Japanese, English and Spanish, each in their own vertical column. There are many specific references to books of study and saxophone repertoire. Subjects covered include basic techniques and equipment, etudes, and literature (both orchestral and solo). A very detailed book with many diagrams and musical examples.

37.95

S059. Selected Saxophone Masterclasses from the editors of Windplayer. Windplayer Publications, 1998, SS, 31 pages. This book contains 15 brief masterclasses on wide variety of subjects such as tone, tonguing, altissimo, soprano pitch problems and baritone sound by well known saxophonists such as Buddy Collette, Lew Tabackin, Jackie McLean, Jack Nimitz and more.

12.95

S040. Les Sons Multiples aux Saxophones by Daniel Kientzy. Salabert, 1982, PB, 80 pages. Multiphonic fingerings for the soprano, soprano, alto, tenor and baritone saxophones. French and English text.

41.95

S615. The Techniques of Saxophone Playing by Marcus Weiss and Giorgio Netti. Baerenreiter, 2010, PB, 110 pages. A new book on extended techniques from saxophonist Marcus Weiss and composer Giorgio Netti. It covers microtones, altissimo, timbral fingerings, multiphonics, articulations, sound and embouchure, and other extended techniques. Musical examples of multiphonics and a variety of performance techniques are provided through an internet link. The text is in German and English.

S017. Tipbook Saxophone by Hugo Pinksterboer. The Tipbook Company, 2007, PB, 216 pages. A new and much longer edition of this interesting and well illustrated book that focuses on saxophone construction, selection and maintenance (including mouthpieces and reeds), learning to play, and a fingering chart. It also has links to more information on the Internet. This book will be of interest to adult and teenage beginners and the parents of younger students. It will also be useful for band directors and music education students who aren't woodwind specialists.

14.95

S684. Writing for Saxophones by Jay C. Easton. Baxter Music Publishing, 2006, SB, 302 pages + CD. Subtitled A Guide to the Tonal Palette of the Saxophone Family for Composers, Arrangers and Performers, this is a practical guide to understanding and effectively utilizing the sounds of this instrumental group as it advances into the twenty-first century. Over ninety printed solo and ensemble examples in the book have been recorded on the enclosed audio CD, which allows the reader to explore the distinct personalities of the various saxophones and integrate their individual musical characteristics into his or her tonal imagination. Saxophone performers and enthusiasts will find enjoyment and edification within these pages, and composers and arrangers who wish to explore the many possibilities offered by the saxophone family will find this book to be an especially valuable resource.

Saxophone Jazz Books

S014. Charlie Parker and Thematic Improvisation by Henry Martin. Scarecrow Press, 2001, PB, 155 pages. Earlier studies of Parker argue that his style is based on an extensive network of melodic formulas that are combined to create solos and concluded that the solos do not usually relate to the original melodies. This book provides a much-needed reassessment by showing that Parker's solos are often related to the original themes in unexpected and sometimes ingenious ways. The conclusion sums up features of Parker's style and discusses his contribution in the context of Western music history. Numerous transcriptions (in concert key) are provided. This groundbreaking technical study will be of interest to musicologists and serious students of jazz.

S297. David Liebman: On Education, The Saxophone & Related Jazz Topics by David Liebman. Jamey Aebersold Jazz, 2003, SS, 51 pages. Here is a masterful collection of articles and papers written over the years summarizing thoughts on various topics related to jazz and education such as his educational concepts, jazz rhythm, the soprano saxophone, principles of breathing, playing solo saxophone, concerns for beginning saxophonists, and his personal view on what jazz means.. Each article is a worthy testament unto itself, but as a collection, they form an enlightening and insightful tool for every music educator and player in search of new ideas and fresh perspectives on teaching for the next century.

S088. Take Five, The Public and Private Lives of Paul Desmond by Doug Ramsey. Parkside Publications, 2005, HB, 372 pages. Take Five: The Public and Private Lives of Paul Desmond is the story of a jazz artist who transcended genres to establish one of the most immediately recognizable sounds in all of music. Take Five also includes transcriptions of several of Paul's most brilliant recorded solos. It is luxuriously produced in large (10 x 11 inches) format on fine matte paper. The book is extensively illustrated with 190 photographs, most of which have never been previously published. Take Five contains 372 pages, endnotes, an index and a complete Paul Desmond discography.

Master Classes and Extended Technique (Including Jazz Instruction)

S367. The Altissimo Primer by Paul Cohen. To the Fore Publishers, 2007, SS, 45 pages. This book serves as an introduction to the development of altissimo as a natural extension of range. It provides an overview of the overtones and a set of fingerings for the altissimo. Most of the books is devoted to a series of exercises focusing on Scales and Arpeggios, The Equality of Registers, and Cultivating an Artistic Facility. 14.95

S854. Altissimo Studies for Alto Saxophone by Todd Rewoldt. Radnofsky Couper Editions, 2010, SS, 34 pages. The focus of these studies is not to teach the basics of performing in the altissimo, but to provide practical fingering patterns that will increase speed and fluency. However, many studies often provide numerous pages of scales and patterns that ask little more than to "play up an octave." Saxophonists, then, are required to choose from an array of possible fingerings, often resulting in an inconsistent or "clumsy" altissimo technique. To complement those study books that provide fingerings, vocal/throat exercises, and patterns, Altissimo Studies provides precise fingerings for each pitch of the included altissimo scales, arpeggios, trills, and passages from the repertoire. These fingering patterns are designed specifically to increase speed and fluency in altissimo performance of the alto saxophone. 19.95

S571. Beginning Studies in the Altissimo Register for Saxophone by Rosemary Lang revised and edited by Gail B. Levinsky. Ensemble Publications, 2009, SS, 44 pages. This popular book (originally published in 1971) is now back in print in a new edition. Rosemary R. Lang (1920-1985) was a faculty member at Butler University from 1948 until her death. Gail B. Levinsky is on the faculty at Susquehanna University and was a music student at Butler during the 1970s. This book begins with fundamental techniques for producing altissimo register tones, it provides fingerings for the alto and tenor saxophone with numerous exercises and studies. .. 14.95

S369. The Complete Saxophonist by James Houlik and Eric Lauver. Northeastern Music Publications, 2007, SS, 44 pages pages + CD. Subtitled: An Essential resource for the serious saxophonists. While this book calls itself a method book it is very similar to some of the books we have categorized as Master Classes. It focuses on aspects of saxophone playing such as tone development, technical exercises (including alternate fingerings), articulation, and vibrato. It also includes lyrical and technical etudes and a CD with recordings of some the exercises from the book and some artistic performances by Houlik and Donald Sinta. 23.95

G244. Constructing Melodic Jazz Improvisation (B-flat Edition - Tenor Sax/Clarinet/Trumpet) by Brian Kane. Jazz Path Music Publishing, 2007, PB, 160 pages + CD. This book contains detailed explanations and analysis of the creative and improvisational techniques musicians use for style, phrasing, solo development, and motivic improvisation in an easy to follow step-by-step format. Ten progressively difficult chapters, containing dozens of improvisational exercises, explore jazz improvisation from creative, melodic and technical perspectives. The book is designed to meet all of the national standards and frameworks for music education and is a comprehensive improvisational curriculum for both individuals and classes. The book includes a 52 track play-along and demonstration CD. 24.95

G245. Constructing Melodic Jazz Improvisation (E-flat Edition - Alto Sax/Baritone Sax) by Brian Kane. Jazz Path Music Publishing, 2007, PB, 160 pages + CD. As above for E-flat instruments. 24.95

S833. Crossover Pieces for Saxophone by Peter Lehel. Advance Music, 2011, PB, 123 pages + CD. This book offers performers on B-flat saxophones (tenor or soprano) a wide variety of stylistically diverse solo pieces in popular styles – hip hop, boogaloo, Latin jazz, funk, jazz ballad, shuffle blues, bossa nova, bolero, jazz waltz – along with comprehensive information about structure, melody, harmony, and improvisation. These are the authors own compositions, many of which we have for sale. The text is provided in English and German, and creative exercises are also provided with each piece to strengthen performance skills. The CD recording provides both demonstration and play-along-with-rhythm-section tracks. The author rates the difficulty level at medium to medium-advanced. 26.95

S537. Easy Jazz Conception Alto Saxophone by Jim Snidero. Jim Snidero alto saxophone with rhythm section. Advance Music, 1999, SS, 38 pages + CD. This is the entry level book (although the difficulty level isn't much different from the next book). It has 15 solo etudes for jazz phrasing, interpretation and improvisation. The CD includes performances of each piece with the soloist and rhythm section and of the rhythm section alone. Includes a brief introduction that discusses phrasing and ways this book can be used. 20.95

S857. Easy Jazz Studies Alto Saxophone by Tilmann Dehnhard. Tilmann Dehnhard alto saxophone with guitar and bass. Universal Edition, 2012, SS, 18 pages + CD. This book contains 10 original compositions for jazz practice. The CD has the pieces both with and without the rhythm section and frequently at more than one tempo. Suggested for those with at least three years of playing experience. The book has a preface (a brief introduction to jazz style playing) in German, English and French. 24.95

S131. Essential Jazz Lines in the Style of "Cannonball" Adderley E-flat Edition by Corey Christiansen and Tamara Danielsson. Mel Bay Publications, 2002, SS, 39 pages + CD. Many of the devices and techniques used by Cannonball Adderley are covered in this text. In addition to the theory chapters, many melodic lines and phrases in the Cannonball's style are presented. All the lines have been transposed into one key and grouped by the harmonic background they can be played against. The accompanying play-along CD enables to students to first practice the material in one key, and then master each line in all twelve keys, working around the circle of fourths. 17.95

S130. Essential Jazz Lines in the Style of Charlie Parker E-flat Edition by Corey Christiansen. Mel Bay Publications, 2001, SS, 32 pages + CD. This text presents numerous jazz lines in Charlie's style, grouped by their application in a given harmonic content. Students will learn to connect lines to play over ii-V-I progressions, turnarounds and other harmonic frameworks. To facilitate proficiency in all twelve keys, each section of the book has a chordal play-along that modulates around the circle of fourths. Some of the techniques used in Charlie Parker style are also discussed with examples provided. This helps musicians analyze each of the ideas presented, further ensuring their mastery. 14.95

S310. Essential Jazz Lines in the Style of Charlie Parker B-flat Edition by Corey Christiansen. Mel Bay Publications, 2001, SS, 32 pages + CD. 14.95

S129. Essential Jazz Lines in the Style of John Coltrane Tenor Sax Edition by Corey Christiansen and Kim Bock. Mel Bay Publications, 2002, SS, 55 pages + CD. This book focuses on the first period of Coltrane's career, when he was with Miles Davis, and the jazz vocabulary he used.

First, to help the student better understand Coltrane's bebop style of improvising, the authors discuss the use of guide tones, bebop scales, three to flat nine, targeting, and other techniques. Then the text presents numerous one-, two-, and three-measure jazz lines in Coltrane's style grouped by the harmony over which they can be used. The accompanying play-along CD provides the rhythm parts for each section, including a track for each section that modulates through the cycle of fourths, helping you master the phrases in all keys. By combining various lines, musicians will be able to mix and match numerous combinations of these lines to play over ii-V-I progressions, turnarounds, and other harmonic situations. 19.95

S308. Essential Jazz Lines in the Style of John Coltrane E-flat Edition by Corey Christiansen and Kim Bock. Mel Bay Publications, 2002, SS, 55 pages + CD. 17.95

S107. Extended Technique for the Saxophone by J. Michael Leonard. Black Lion Press, 2004, SB, 1994, SS, 61 pages. A new edition of this book originally published in 1984. It covers basic fundamentals (fingering and alternates, trills, intonation, and pitch alteration), harmonic studies, the altissimo register and fingering, quarter tones and fingering, multiphonics and timbre alterations. With the exception of the altissimo fingers which are quite detailed, this book should be regarded as a reasonably priced introduction to extended technique. 19.95

This book of altissimo etudes is by Dr. Noah Getz, a Washington DC based classical and jazz saxophonist and music educator. In addition to the 20 etudes, it includes a brief history of the altissimo register, considerations for developing the altissimo register, and a one page listing of works that include the altissimo register. 20.95

S615. The Techniques of Saxophone Playing by Marcus Weiss and Giorgio Netti. Baerenreiter, 2010, PB, 110 pages. Extended Techniques. Description is under Saxophone Books. 75.95

S535. Reading Key Jazz Rhythms Alto or Baritone Saxophone by Fred Lipsius. Advance Music, 1996, SS, 68 pages + CD. This is a collection of 24 easy to medium level jazz etudes, and 24 simplified guide tone versions of the etudes. They are ideal for learning the basic language of jazz, swing phrasing, and articulation. The guide tone etudes (guide tones are the essential or defining notes for each given chord type) are followed by a melodious version as the chord changes might actually be performed (the rhythms are the same in both versions). On the accompanying CD the soloist (Fred Lipsius) demonstrates the 24 melodious etudes together with a professional rhythm section. You can also improvise along with the play-along tracks using the chord symbols. So if improvising is new to you and you find yourself getting lost, you can always return to a guide tone and play rhythmically around it. Any etude and its corresponding simplified guide tone version can be played together as a duet (with or without the CD accompaniment). 21.95

S050. Complete Jazz Sax Book by William Bay. Mel Bay Publications, 1980, PB, 144 pages. A comprehensive study text for students beginning a serious study of jazz. The first part of the book begins by teaching elements of jazz phrasing, articulation, vibrato and interpretation of rhythms through exercises and original pieces. Next, the book encourages improvisational skills through both theoretical and technical studies of scales and chords. The second half of the book builds on the skills learned in the first part with an in-depth study of the theory, which underlies improvisational techniques including scales, modal concepts and chord construction. Ear training, particularly the development of the ability to hear chord progressions is also emphasized. 14.95

S119. Complete Learn to Play Saxophone Manual by Peter Gelling. LPT Publishing, 2003, PB, 216 pages + CDs for both alto and tenor saxophone. The first 12 chapters are identical to the contents of Progressive Saxophone (S118) but it continues for a further 36 chapters, about three quarters of the book. The additional material covers the full chromatic scale, high notes, transposing, intervals, scales and arpeggios, and many jazz techniques. 29.95

S369. The Complete Saxophonist by James Houlik and Eric Lauver. Northeastern Music Publications, 2007, SS, 44 pages pages + CD. Subtitled: An Essential resource for the serious saxophonists. While this book calls itself a method book and has the the basic information on equipment and care one might expect, it is not a step-by-step method for learning to play the saxophone. Instead it focuses on aspects such as tone development, technical exercises (including alternate fingerings), articulation, and vibrato. It also includes lyrical and technical etudes and a CD with recordings of some the exercises from the book and some artistic performances by Houlik and Donald Sinta. 23.95

S045. Comprehensive Jazz Studies & Exercises for All Instruments by Eric Marienthal. Belwin Jazz, 1996, PB, 192 pages. A comprehensive book of jazz technique studies and exercises by saxophonist Eric Marienthal. This book deals with many technique issues jazz musicians encounter in the real world. The format provides major, minor, dominant, melodic minor, diminished, and pentatonic/blues scale and chord exercises each of which includes motif exercises, finger busters, extended motif exercises and ideas for improvisation. 24.95

S112. Foundation to Saxophone Playing by Ben Vereecken. Carl Fischer, 1917, PB, 108 pages. Subtitled: An Elementary Method. While I don't think you would want to start a young beginner with the book, it has many pieces and exercises of progressive difficulty that will be useful to beginning and intermediate students. It also includes a fingering chart (of more recent vintage) and scales 26.95

S666. I Used to Play Alto Saxophone by Larry Clark. Carl Fischer, 2011, SS, 48 pages + CD. I Used to Play is a new series for adults looking to get back into playing their instruments of yesteryear, and will help jump start their memory and comfort with music. Its #1 goal is to get people re-acquainted with their instrument(s) by not only reviewing theory and technique with etudes, but also providing them with types of music they want to play, like pop, jazz, and classical tunes. Each book contains a CD with audio MP3 files of complete performances of most songs, plus accompaniment-only play along versions. The CD also contains printable PDFs of piano parts for practice or performance opportunities. (The CD will only work in computers and CD players that play MP3s). It's just the push former players need to fall back in love with their instruments again! 19.95

S722. Sevilla by Isaac Albéniz arranged for Saxophone Quintet (SAATB) by Albert Loritz. Advance Music, 2011, SS, includes parts and score. The third movement of the Suite Española No. 1 Op 47. A familiar piece which can also be performed by a saxophone choir. Early college level. 24.95

S987. Tango by Isaac Albeniz arranged for saxophone quartet (SATB) by Bela Kovacs. EditionDarok, 2013, SS, (includes score and parts). A popular slow tango which Kovacs has also arranged for clarinet quintet. With a duration of 2 minutes, this is suitable for high school quartets and up.  9.95

5751. Tango for Soprano Saxophone and Piano by Isaac Albeniz arranged by Sharon Davis. Western International Music, 1996, SS, 5 + 2 pages. The familiar Albeniz tango arranged for soprano saxophone and piano. Marked Andantino, it is at the intermediate level although it is in the key of E.  9.95

S209. Trois Pièces (Three Pieces) by Isaac Albeniz arranged for saxophone quartet (SATB) by Marcel Mule. Leduc, 1922, SS, (includes score and parts). Three pieces by Spanish composer Albeniz (1860-1909) that can be enjoyed by quartets from advanced high school to professional. The pieces are 1. Chant d'Amour (Allegretto), II. Berceuse (Andante), and III. L'Été (Allegro). 36.25

WW248. Concerto in D minor Op. 9 No. 2 for Oboe (or Clarinet or Soprano Saxophone) and Piano by Tomaso Albinoni edited by Ber Joosen. Molenaar, 1966, SS, 18 + 4 pages. Originally for oboe and string orchestra. In three movements: Allegro e non presto, Adagio, and Allegro. Includes a part in B-flat. Duration about 13 minutes. Advanced high school/early college level. 16.95

S510. Urban Impressions for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Ronald Albrecht. Roncorp, 2008, SS, 24 + 5 pages. Ronald Albrecht is an American composer, pianist, and music educator. In five movements: Main Street (Allegro Molto), Park Avenue (Casual, somewhat jazzy), After Midnight (Expressive, like the blues), Four Corners (A Jazzy Shuffle), and Traffic (A Driving Allegro). This piece probably rates as early college level but it includes a few altissimo notes up to A-flat. 16.00

WW257. Pit Band for Alto Saxophone, Bass Clarinet and Piano by William Albright. C.F. Peters, 1996, SS, (includes parts and piano score). This work, with its unusual ensemble of three haphazard instruments—a pick-up band—attempts to digest an evening-long musical comedy in a few minutes (8 to be precise). The program is: Tune-up and Introduction, Overture, Opening Number, Vamps and Screams ("Nessun dorma"), Love Song, Waltz, alla Marcia, Fox-trot and Shimmeys, and Finale. An advanced work with some high altissimo for both instruments, but without the nasty key changes found in most musicals. 17.75

S078. Sonata for Alto Saxophone and Piano by William Albright. C.F. Peters, 1990, 34 + 16 pages. Four movements: I. Two-part Invention, II. La follia nuova: a lament for George Cacioppo, III. Scherzo "Will o' the wisp," and IV. Recitative and Dance. Advanced level and nicely printed. 34.25

S416. Concertino for Alto Saxophone (Piano Reduction) by André Ameller. Editions Philippo et Combre, 1970, 28 + 10 pages. This work, which is dedicated to Jean-Marie Londeix, was written with string orchestra and flute obbligato accompaniment. It is in three movements: I. Lento/Allegro con fantasia, II. Come un'improvvisazione, and III. Vivace. The first and last movements have a cadenza. Upper college level. 27.95

S182. Suite after Rameau for Alto Saxophone and Piano by André Ameller. Editions Musicales Transatlantiques, 1971, 12 + 6 pages. Five movements: 1. Vivo, 2. Sarabande, 3. Menuets, 4. Rondo gracieux, and 5. Final. High school/early college level. 19.95

S862. La Noche Festiva, I. Preludio for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Dennis Anderson. Advance Music, 2010, SS, (includes score and parts). This is the first a five movement suite for saxophone quartet which may be performed separately or together. The beginning of this movement opens with a soprano saxophone solo and a pronounced dissonance and polytonality before developing into a fugue statement that resolves with excitement and vigor. This is an opening bravura statement for the suite. 15.95

S721. La Noche Festiva, II. Tango del amor for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Dennis Anderson. Advance Music, 2010, SS, (includes score and parts). The second of a five movement suite for saxophone quartet. This slow tango (con laguida) has an authentic rhythmic feel with lilting melodies, rich harmonies, and intriguing chordal structures. The tenor saxophone has an improvised solo (from chord changes) in the middle of the piece. 15.95

S849. La Noche Festiva, III. Balada romántica for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Dennis Anderson. Advance Music, 2010, SS, (includes score and parts). The third of a five movement suite for saxophone quartet. This ballad, replete with luscious harmonies and singing melodic lines, stars alto and soprano saxophones telling the story of a romantic interlude. The music weaves, twists, turns and jumps, culminating in a rewarding resolution. 15.95

S738. La Noche Festiva, IV. Vals cómico for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Dennis Anderson. Advance Music, 2011, SS, (includes score and parts). The fourth of a five movement suite for saxophone quartet. This movement is a quirky, fun-loving waltz with musical phrases seemingly misplaced, but intentional. 15.95

S831. La Noche Festiva, V. Final enérgico for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Dennis Anderson. Advance Music, 2011, SS, (includes score and parts). The last movement of a five movement suite for saxophone quartet. This movement is a samba, one of the most expressive of all Latin dance forms, and represents the end of a festive evening. Although the movement begins and ends in compound 3/2 meter, it swings and sways, employing complex and contrapuntal harmonies, rhythms, and percussive accents. The baritone sax provides a soloistic bass line throughout. 15.95

S820. Sonata Op. 6 for Baritone Saxophone and Piano by Garland Anderson. Southern Music Co., 1976, SS, 24 + 6 pages. Three movements: I. Allegro con spirito, II. Andante sostenuto, and III. Adagio/Allegro. The publisher rates this as (US) grade 5. 12.50

S498. Quartet for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Terry Applebaum. Southern Music Co. 1968, SS, (includes score and parts). This is a sectional piece (fast/slow/fast) with some meter changes. The publisher rates this at (US) grade 4 (and it is). 6.50

S415. Caprice et Variations for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Joseph Arban edited by Bruce Ronkin. Roncorp, 1987, SS, 12 + 4 pages. This piece by brass virtuoso, teacher, arranger and composer Arban was written in about 1860 and originally published by Adolphe Sax's publishing house. It begins with a 6/8 Andantino, followed by the statement of a theme and three variations. Advanced high school or early college level with a duration of about 6:30 without repeats.  16.00

S315. Vé. Dé. A for Alto Saxophone and Piano by André Arnold. International Music Diffusion, 1983, SS, 17 + 5 pages. André Arnold (1910-?) was a French composer and organist who lost his sight in an accident when he was 13. He composed more than 60 works for a variety of instruments. This piece, which had its premier performance in 1971, was dedicated to his granddaughter and the title is based on her initials. In three movements: I. Prelude (Moderato), II. Berceuse (Andante), and III. Final - Rondo (Allegro). Early college level with a duration of 9 minutes. 19.95

S800. The Alex Set for Solo Oboe or Saxophone by Daniel Asia. Merion Music/Theodore Presser, 1994/1996, SS, 9 pages. Daniel Asia (1953-) is an American composer and conductor. This work is in five movements: Alex I, Interlude I (Allegretto), Alex II (Spritely), Interlude II (Adagio), and Alex III (Allegro vivace). The first movement was written when the composer was a student in 1971. In 1995, oboist Alex Klein suggested that the composer write more music for oboe, perhaps a continuation of the original Alex piece. This is the result. Alex II and Alex III can be viewed as variations on the original. Alex I uses some contemporary notation and lacks bar lines, the rest of the piece is more conventional in notation. The duration is about 10 minutes.  15.95

S421. Comme un vieux Noël for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Pierre Auclert. Billaudot, 1969, 2 + 1 pages. A Christmas carol in the old style. Early intermediate level.  7.95

S494. Andante, Menuetto and Finale by J.C. Bach arranged for saxophone quartet (AATB) by Himie Voxman and Robert P. Block. Southern Music Co. 1985, SS, (includes score and parts). Three movements. The publisher rates this at (US) grade 3. 13.95

S499. Quartet Op. 19, No. 1 by J.C. Bach arranged for saxophone quartet (AATB) by Himie Voxman and Robert P. Block. Southern Music Co. 1991, SS, (includes score and parts). One movement: Allegro. The publisher rates this at (US) grade 3. 11.95

S838. Aria de la Suite en Ré Pour Orchestre by Johann Sebastian Bach arranged for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Marcel Mule. Leduc, 1937, SS, 2 + 1 pages. Lento (eighth note = 66). While the tempo is slow, there are lots of 16th notes and some 32nd notes. The piano part is important and the same level of difficulty as the saxophone part. More advanced high school students and up.  8.95

S962. Aria with 30 Variations (Goldberg Variations) (BWV 988) by Johann Sebastian Bach arranged for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by David Maslanka, 2012, SB/SS, includes parts and score. Published in 1741, this piece was originally for harpsichord and is considered one of the most important examples of variations. This is a substantial work. The score is 92 pages and the soprano saxophone part is 31 pages. 📖..... 8.95

S943. Concerto Italien (BWV 971) by Johann Sebastian Bach arranged for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Katsuki Tochio. Billaudot, 1997, SS, includes parts and score. Published in 1735, this popular piece was originally for two-manual harpsichord (this music says piano). In three movements: 1. Without tempo indication, 2. Andante, and 3. Presto. While the soprano has the most difficult part overall, the tenor has the leading role in much of the second movement. College level with a duration of about 13 minutes. 36.95

S475. Fourth Sonata by Johann Sebastian Bach arranged for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Marcel Mule. Leduc, 1951, SS, 6 + 3 pages. Originally for flute. Five movements: I. Andante, II. Allegro, III. Adagio, IV. Menuetto I, and V. Menuetto II. A good piece for better high school students. 📖..... 15.25

S569. Fantasie and Fuge in A minor (BWV 904) by Johann Sebastian Bach arranged for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Olaf Mühlenhardt. Advance Music, 2009, SS, includes parts and score. Probably composed around 1725, this two movement work was probably performed on organ and well as keyboard. It is a particularly fine example of the craftsmanship of J.S. Bach. Advanced high school and up. 18.95

S653. Fantasie and Fuge in A minor (BWV 904) by Johann Sebastian Bach arranged for Saxophone Quintet (SAATB) or Sextet (SAATBBs) by Olaf Mühlenhardt. Advance Music, 2009, SS, includes parts and score. The character of the Fantasie is serious and grave; even in the interludes a contemplative mood prevails. Its concerto form is strictly symmetrical: the main theme appears four times with three interludes between. The four-part double Fugue exemplifies Bach's superior contrapuntal craftsmanship as he combines two contrasting themes – one that's diatonic, rhythmic and agile, and another that consists of a descending chromatic line. Advanced high school and up. 21.95

S601. Fantasie and Fuge in C minor (BWV 537) by Johann Sebastian Bach arranged for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) or Ensemble (SATBBs) by Olaf Mühlenhardt. Advance Music, 2009, SS, includes parts and score. Written for organ, the original date of composition is unknown with the only known source a copy from one of Bach's students in 1751. There is a small amount of divisi in the alto part so some doubling of parts may be in order when played as an ensemble. Advanced high school and up. 21.95

S826. Partita in A minor BWV 1013 by Johann Sebastian Bach transcribed for saxophone solo by Alain Bouhey. Henry Lemoine, 1994, SS, 6 pages. This partita was written for flute during the period 1722-23. It has four movements: Allemande, Corrente, Sarabande, and Bourrée anglaise. Originally in A minor it has been transposed to (written) B minor. The music goes up to altissimo F sharp and has one optional altissimo B. This is easier than the piece below, although it has the same difficulty grade from the publisher. It includes notes in French by Bouhey. 📖..... 15.95

S827. Partita No. 2 BWV 1004 by Johann Sebastian Bach transcribed for Alto Saxophone by Didier Vadrot. Henry Lemoine, 1991, SS, 12 pages. This partita was written for violin during the period 1717-23. It has five movements: Allemande, Courante, Sarabande, Gigue, and Chaconne. The transcriber has preserved (some of ?) the original multiple stops. The music goes up to altissimo G sharp and has optional 8va markings which take it up higher. Rated "difficult" by the publisher. Although alto saxophone is indicated, this is a solo that can be played by any saxophone. 15.95

S497. Prelude and Fugue No. 6 by J.S. Bach arranged for saxophone quartet (AATB or SATB) by Stephen A. Anthenien. Southern Music Co. 1979, SS, (includes score and parts). Two movements. The publisher rates this at (US) grade 4 (it is certainly on the easier side of this grade). 9.95

S553. Sixth Sonata by Johann Sebastian Bach arranged for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Marcel Mule. Leduc, 1951, SS, 8 + 4 pages. Originally for flute. This listed as No. 92 in M. S685. Chinese Ancient Dances for Soprano Saxophone and Piano by Chen Yi. Theodore Presser, 2006/2011, SS, 12 + 4 pages. Chen Yi (1953-) was born in China and educated there and in the United States (DMA from Columbia University). This work was originally for clarinet, but with a few octave adjustments it will work nicely for saxophone. There are two dances: I Ox Tail Dance (which has a slow tempo but many 5,6,7, and 9-tuplets) and II. Hu Xuan Dance (Lively). An advanced work for both performers. Duration about 8 minutes. [E] 12.95

S956. Monologue (Impressions on The True Story of Ah Q) for unaccompanied Saxophone by Chen Yi transcribed by Jeffrey Heisler. Theodore Presser Co., 2000/2013, 2 pages. Inspired by Lu Xun's (Zhou Shren, 1881-1936) The Bio of Ah Q. Lu Xun is China's best-known 20th Century author of essays and short stories. He called on the Chinese people to rise and give battle to feudalism. The transcription has raised those parts of the original clarinet version that are too low for the saxophone up an octave. Marked Adagio ad lib., this is an advanced work with some altissimo to C and a duration of 4-5 minutes. Most suitable for soprano or alto saxophone although none is specified. [E] 5.95

S944. The Soulful and the Perpetual for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Chen Yi. Theodore Presser, 2013, SS, 18 + 6 pages. A commission by Jessica Heller Knopf resulted in the new Chen Yi concert work for alto saxophone in two diametrically opposed movements. "The Soulful" is lyrical with moving and gripping melodies, while "The Perpetual" uses perpetual motion to symbolize consistence and perseverance. Altissimo to B. For advanced performers with a duration of about 9:30. 14.95

S692. Sonata for Soprano Saxophone and Piano by Paul Chihara. C.F. Peters, 1996, SS, 27 + 13 pages. Paul Chihara (1938-) is an American composer who has written for a wide range of genres including film and television. In two movements: I. Allegro Amabile, II. Senza Tempo (con fantasia) with many tempo changes within each movement. The saxophone part has been edited by Harvey Pittel. College level with a duration of about 12 minutes. 26.25

S356. Largo Op. 65 by Frederic Chopin transcribed for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Eugene Rousseau. Etoile Music/MMB Music, 1969, 3 + 1 pages. This brief (1:30) piece is from a cello sonata. It is at the intermediate level with some written out turns and a range to altissimo E. [E] 9.95

S570. Klezmer Suite for Saxophone Choir by Alexis Ciesla. Advance Music, 2007, SS, includes parts (SAAATB, double bass and optional tambourine on the first movement) and score. This suite is in three movements. The first two movements are based on traditional Klezmer themes: Itmar Freilach and Hershel. The third is an original composition Doumka's Freilach. The outer movements are fast (Allegro) while the inner movement is slower (Andante). There are a few brief spots for optional improvisation. College level or adult amateur. 26.95

S577. November Spring for Saxophone Quartet or Quintet by André Cimiotti. Advance Music, 2009, SS, includes parts and score. André Cimiotti (1975-) is a German saxophonist and composer. Here are the notes on the back cover of the music: "The cheerful and expressive pop-jazz song November Spring was originally written for saxophone quartet Wheeze (AATB). It is a feature for the 1st alto (optional soprano part is included – the alto part goes up to high A), which introduces the melody and plays a long improvised solo. Also included is an optional 2nd tenor part (or optional 3rd alto) to perform this piece in the Cologne Saxophone Quintet version.

Playing November Spring is not only a challenge, but it is also fun to do! The composition consists of a short and explosive introduction, a 64-bar AABC theme, an interlude, a solo for 1st alto on the AABC form, an interlude, ABC theme and a coda." The improvised solo over chords in the first part is a substantial part of this piece. 23.95

S708. Caravane for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Robert Clérissé. Alphonse Leduc, SS, includes parts and score. Robert Clérissé (1899-1973) was a French composer and saxophonist and the founder of the Marcel Mule saxophone quartet. Mostly Lent et pesant (eighth note = 96) with a somewhat faster Frais et allant (quarter note = 76) section in the middle. S785. Musique de Concert for Alto Saxophone and Orchestra (Piano Reduction) by Marius Constant. Leduc, 1954, SS, 15 + 4 pages. Dedicated to Marcel Mule, this was a Concours du Conservatoire National de Musique piece. It is an advanced work in five movements: I. Toccata (Lento/Vivo), II. Aria (Largo), III. Ostinato (Allegro molto), IV. Intermezzo (Allegro moderato), and V. Variazioni (Deciso). Unlike the more recent piece above, this work does not use any extended techniques and has a range to altissimo F-sharp. Duration of about 9 minutes. 27.20

S732. Four Piano Blues by Aaron Copland arranged for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Paul Cohen. Boosey & Hawkes, 1949/2009, SS, includes parts and score. Paul Cohen wrote: "Four Piano Blues was composed between 1926 and 1948, with each movement dedicated to a different friend of the composer. These thoughtful portraits, loosely drawn from a 'blues' perspective, together form a little musical portrait of the composer over the years. From the exuberant jazz of the 1920s to the strong simplicity of his 1940s music, they are immediately recognizable as Copland's own, distinctive American language. I have always been enamored of Four Piano Blues and thought that the colorful and sustaining sonorities of the saxophone quartet could add yet another dimension to the work." These pieces have some challenges because of their mixed meter which is of the 4/4, 7/8, etc. variety in the third movement (although it is slow). 19.95

S733. Three Excerpts from "Our Town" and Simple Gifts by Aaron Copland arranged for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Paul Cohen. Boosey & Hawkes, 1944/1945/2009, SS, includes parts and score. This arrangement of the music from Our Town is based on a short three movement arrangement for piano by Copland. Included are The Story of Our Town, Conversation at the Soda Fountain, and The Resting-place on the Hill. Duration 11 minutes. Simple Gifts from the Shaker tune of the same name was used in the ballet Appalachian Spring. This arrangement is based on the version created for wind ensemble. Duration 4:30. These works are suitable for better high school level quartets and up. 24.95

S335. Something Serious for solo baritone saxophone by Ian Corbett. Emerson Edition, 2001, 7 pages. The composer (who wrote this piece for himself) describes it as somewhat serious but still jazzy and accessible. This piece uses some contemporary notation but the only extended techniques are growls or flutter tonguing. Written for a low A instrument, alternate phrases are provided where there are low As. This piece could also be played on the alto or tenor saxophone. ☐ 13.95

S630. Introduction, Dance and Furioso for Unaccompanied Alto Saxophone by Herbert Couf. Belwin/Alfred, 1959, SS, 4 pages. Herbert Couf (1920-) was a clarinetist in the Detroit and Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestras, also playing saxophone, a music teacher, and was involved several aspects of the retail musical instrument business. He wrote several of solo pieces for a variety of instruments. The Introduction is Lento (mm=52), The Dance is Andante con moto (mm=88) and marked "very rhythmic." It has a cadenza in the middle. The Furioso is the final section of this piece and it is marked Vivo (mm=184). Early college level but it is on college auditions lists as well. Duration about 4:30. ☐ 6.95

S799. Danse for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Jean Cras. Editions Henry Lemoine, 2003, SS, includes parts and score. Jean Cras (1879-1932) was a French composer and career naval officer. Generally at quarter = 120 with some accelerandos and ritards/allargando. The beginning and end of the piece is in a non-standard key signature but that shouldn't be a problem for college level players. Duration of about 3:20. 18.95

S688. Renaissance Suite for Saxophone Quartet (AATB) arranged by Mike Curtis. Advance Music, 2009, SS, includes parts and score. Music from the High Renaissance (c. 1500) often featured voices in four-part harmony. The blending, vocal nature of saxophones makes this repertoire ideal for adaptation. This Suite begins with In te, Domine, speravi by the greatest master of that age, the Franco-Flemish Josquin des Prez, follows with the poignant Triste España sin Ventura by Juan del Encina, and concludes with a lively anonymous Spanish dance tune, Pase el agao, ma Julieta. High school level. 17.95

S712. Tango La Invitación for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) and optional percussion by Mike Curtis. Advance Music, 2006, SS, includes parts and score. The optional percussion is for two players. This piece blends tango with elements of klezmer music. Sectional: Languido, Agitato, Quasi cadenza (tenor and bari), and a final section at mm=112. The main challenge is ensemble as the parts are very independent. 18.95

S122. Concerto for Alto Saxophone and Wind Ensemble (1949/1953) Piano Reduction by Ingolf Dahl edited by Harvey Pittel. European American Music, 1979, 34 + 14 pages. One of the most famous pieces in the saxophone repertoire. It was intended by the composer that this piano reduction could be used for performance as well as preparation for playing the Concerto with a wind ensemble. Many notes by the editor to aid in performance. We also have the book The Original 1949 Saxophone Concerto of Ingolf Dahl (S035) by Paul M. Cohen. 22.95

Total duration of about 3:15. ☐ 9.95

S614. Suite for Saxophone Solo by François Daneels. Schott, 2007, SS, 5 pages. This was the contest piece for saxophone at the Royal Conservatory of Music of Brussels in 1973. No saxophone is specified but on the recording it is played on an alto. Five movements: I. Allegro moderato, II. Tranquillo, III. Scherzo, IV. Cadence/Rubato/Andante, and V. Vivo. There is some contemporary notation in the second movement. An advanced work with a duration of about 6 minutes. ☐ 19.95

S896. Beau Soir (Beautiful Evening) for Tenor Saxophone and Piano by Claude Debussy arranged by Eugene Rousseau. Etoile Music/Keiser Classical, 1980, SS, 3 + 1 pages. This work was written for voice and piano around 1883. It is nearly all in the upper register (to altissimo E). While it is not at all difficult, it can be effective in the hands of a professional. ☐ 15.95

- S190. *Rapsodie for Orchestra and (Alto) Saxophone Piano Reduction by Claude Debussy. Durand, 1919, SS, 15 + 3 pages. Debussy composed this piece in accordance with wishes of Elise Hall (president of the Orchestral Club of Boston) to whom the work is dedicated and completed it in January 1904. Early college level. About 10 minutes in length. 14.95
- S355. *Rapsodie for Saxophone by Claude Debussy arranged for saxophone and piano by Eugene Rousseau. Etoile Music/MMB Music, 1975, SS, 23 + 4 pages. Since the original version of this piece was not written for a saxophone virtuoso, Rousseau has turned this work into more of a showpiece by assigning solos written for other instruments to the saxophone. It can be used with the original orchestral parts, provided that the conductor designates the orchestral part be tacet when appropriate. College level. 19.95
- S409. *Rapsodie for Saxophone and Orchestra (Piano Reduction) by Claude Debussy edited by Vincent David. Henry Lemoine, 1998, SS, 24 + 7 pages. This edition is similar in concept (but not identical) to the Rousseau edition above. The saxophone part is larger and easier to read. College level. 23.95
- S713. *Rhapsody for Saxophone and Orchestra (Piano Reduction) by Claude Debussy edited by Ernst-Günter Heinemann, piano reduction by Jang Eun Bae with supplementary arranged alto saxophone part by Daniel Gauthier. Henle, 2010, SS. A new edition which includes a preface and comments. Two solo parts are supplied with the edition: one version which follows the instrumental instructions of the autograph, and another one in which the saxophone also adopts material from parts assigned to other instruments (similar to the two editions above). College level. 26.95
- S555. *Syrinx for Solo Alto Saxophone by Claude Debussy transcribed by Jean-Marie Londeix. Editions Jobert, 1971, SS, 2 pages. Transcribed from the original version for flute. The key has been changed from D-flat to E and some fingerings added. Fine for soprano saxophone as well. ☐ 9.95

S161. Deux Pièces (Two Pieces) for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Edison Denisov. Leduc, 1978, SS, 9 + 3 pages. The first piece uses extended techniques (quarter tones in particular) and has no bar lines while the second piece is all about variations in the 16th note rhythm. 21.80

S155. Sonate for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Edison Denisov. Leduc, 1973, SS, 34 + 13 pages. Dedicated to Jean-Marie Londeix. The Siberian born composer Edison Denisov (1929-1996) was one of the most innovative Russian composers of his generation. Much of his woodwind music employs extended techniques and does the second movement of this sonata. This is an advanced work in three movements: I. Allegro, II. Lento, and III. Allegro moderato. 63.65

S147. Prelude, Cadence et Finale for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Alfred Desenclos. Leduc, 1956, SS, 15 + 6 pages. Dedicated to Marcel Mule and a contest piece at the National Conservatory. A wonderful composition from Desenclos (1912-1971). It opens with the Prelude which is dark and jazz influenced. The Cadence is built primarily on rapid arpeggios and is followed by a transitional piano section leading into the Finale which begins a rapidly but alternates between sections similar to the beginning before accelerating again to the conclusion. The piano part is very important and requires a skilled player. Advanced level. 32.30

In the soprano part there is a brief section of flutter tonguing and altissimo to B-flat. The alto part has altissimo to A. The baritone part is very important and is frequently set against the rest of the quartet. 33.95

S813. Lutte for Solo Alto Saxophone by Thierry Escaich. Misterioso Editions, 1995, 8 pages. Dedicated to Claude Delangle, the title may be translated as "fight." This piece has some extended articulation techniques and contemporary notation but no multiphonics. Altissimo to G. 19.75

S913. Sax Trip, Concertino for Alto Saxophone and Youth Orchestra (Piano Reduction) by Thierry Escaich with piano reduction by Thibault Perrine. Billaudot, 2010, SS, 11 + 4 pages. Thierry Escaich (1965-) is a French organist (and pianist) and composer. He has written a number of works for saxophone. In three movements: I. Allegro molto, II. Andante, and III. Vivace. This is an (early) college level work but could possibly be played by an exceptional younger player. The range is to high F. The only advanced technique is some flutter tonguing at the very beginning. The piano reduction is about 6 minutes long while the orchestral version (a string orchestra), which is a rental, is slightly longer. 14.95

S749. Tango Virtuoso for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Thierry Escaich. Billaudot, 1993, SS, includes parts and score. This is a very attractive and appropriately named quartet. As usual, most of the difficulty is in the upper parts. The duration is listed as 4 minutes, but all of the online videos (and there are many) are at a slower tempo. 18.95

S750. Rhapsody for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Eric Ewazen. Theodore Presser Co., 2011, SS, includes parts and score. Eric Ewazen (1954-) is an American composer and music educator. He studied at Eastman and Juilliard where he has been on the faculty since 1980. The piece was written for the New York Saxophone Quartet. S548. Second Prelude for Alto Saxophone and Piano by George Gershwin transcribed by Sigurd M. Rascher. Alfred, 1955, 3 + 2 pages. This is from Gershwin's very popular Three Preludes for piano. This is the slowest of the three (Andante con moto e poco rubato). While not technically difficult this arrangement is mostly in 5 flats and uses the full range of the saxophone (and then some) from low B-flat to altissimo B-flat (with alternatives for the altissimo notes). 5.95

S897. Somebody Loves Me for Saxophone Quartet (SATB or AATB) by George Gershwin arranged by Art Marshall. Ardito, 1994, (includes parts and score). A swing arrangement with two short waltz sections. Brief written out solo for the first part. 19.95

S624. Summertime by George Gershwin arranged for saxophone quartet (SATB or AATB) by Art Marshall. Tierolff Muziekcentrale, 1988, SS, includes parts and score. The first part was intended for an alto saxophone (although a soprano part is provided as an alternative). While all the parts are interesting, the first part has both the theme and a jazzy solo. 23.95

S639. Three Preludes by George Gershwin arranged for saxophone quartet (SATB) by Wolfgang Schlei. Universal Edition, 1987, SS. These three familiar preludes which were written for piano in 1927 have been arranged for many combinations of instruments. Excellent music for the college level and proficient adult quartets. 27.95

S222. Fantazia by Orlando Gibbons arranged for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Fred Hemke. Southern Music Co., 1970, SS, (includes parts and score). Orlando Gibbons (1583-1625) was an English composer and organist. This piece is at a moderato tempo with a brief slower section in the middle. High school level with interesting parts for all. 8.95

S747. Melodies for Saxophone by Philip Glass. Chester Music, 2007, SS, 11 pages. Thirteen melodies written for Jean Genet's play Prisoner Of Love adapted by Joanne Akalaitis for the New York Theater Workshop. Several of these are relatively easy but the rest are more challenging because of mixed meter and tempo. 17.95

S802. Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Philip Glass. Chester Music, 2003. This work was first performed by the Rascher Quartet in July 1995 at the Schleswig Holstein Festival in Hasselburg, Germany. A version of the work with orchestral accompaniment, "Concerto for Four Saxophones," was premiered by the Rascher Quartet with the Stockholm Radio Orchestra in September 1995. In four movements. Advanced college/professional. The score is also available. 49.95

S085. Concerto in E-flat for Alto Saxophone (Piano Reduction) by Alexander Glazounov. Alphonse Leduc, 1936, 19 + 7 pages. One of the most popular and frequently performed saxophone concertos. Written for, and premiered by Sigurd M. Rascher. One extended movement with frequent key and tempo changes. 32.70

S607. Concerto in E-flat for Alto Saxophone and String Orchestra (Piano Reduction) by Alexander Glazounov (Glazounov) edited by Regina Back and Douglas Woodfull-Harris with an urtext solo part and a solo part prepared by Carina Raschèr, piano reduction by Martin Schelhaas. Baerenreiter (BA 8732a), 2010, SS, 22 + 9 (+ 9) pages. The Concerto for Alto Saxophone and Orchestra is Alexander Glazounov's last work. Since its first performance in 1934 it has become part of the standard saxophone repertoire. The sole surviving autograph manuscript is the hand-written dedication score given by Glazounov to Sigurd Raschèr. This score contains the original version of the work without the alterations which were made in the proofs to the orchestral score as well as the full version of the composer's cadenza which was later shortened. The autograph manuscript also contains some performance markings by Raschèr. The correspondence between Raschèr and Glazounov documents the composer's thoughts on the work and his recommendations about the size of the accompanying string orchestra. Evidence from this correspondence has been integrated into this edition. This first scholarly-critical edition of a work by Glazounov contains an informative introduction on German and English with commentaries about the history of its composition, facsimiles and a critical commentary. The solo parts (urtext and parts prepared by Carina Raschèr) include both the complete and the shortened version of the cadenza as well as a cadenza by Raschèr. 30.95

S210. Quartet for Four Saxophones Op. 109 (SATB) by Alexander Glazounov (Glasunow). M.P. Belaieff, 1959, SS. In three movements: I. Partie (Allegro), II. Canzona variée (with five variations: Andante, L'estesso tempo, Con anima, Grave, Allegretto, and Presto), and Finale (Allegro Moderato). A major work (duration about 27 minutes) for saxophone quartet. Advanced college/professional. 33.95

S557. Mike Goldberg's Album of Saxophone Quartets (SATB) by Mike Goldberg edited by Gary Van Cott and John LaCloche. Van Cott Information Services, 2009. Includes parts and score. Mike Goldberg (1922-) is an American musician and composer who played saxophone with bands such as Charlie Barnet and Benny Goodman. These seven original quartets are excellent for advancing high school, early college, and recreational quartets. They are: Dream Sequence, Lady Blue, Pirouette, 40's Tune, 50's Tune, Hodge Podge, and Double Dot Drive. All but Pirouette are in swing style. Lady Blue and Double Dot Drive have tenor solos with chord changes while Hodge Podge has a solo for the bari. 24.95

S245. Diffusion for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Gordon Goodwin. Belwin Jazz, 2006, (includes score and parts). Dedicated to the Osland Saxophone Quartet. In four movements: I. Allegro, II. Waltz, III. Swing, and IV. Hip Hop. An extended work that requires both classical and jazz skills. The cover says it is designed for experience high school and college saxophone players, but it will take exceptional high school players to bring it off anywhere near the marked tempos. 64.95

S120. Brilliance for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Ida Gotkovsky. Billaudot, 1974, SS, 22 + 11 pages. In four movements: I. Déclamé (Largo), II. Desinvolte (Avec humour), III. Dolcissimo (molto dolce), IV. Final (Prestissimo). A challenging upper level college work. 25.95

The first and second movements have some mixed meter but it is all of the easier variety without fractional beats. Early college level with a duration of 5 minutes. There are editions of the piece for strings, double-reeds, clarinets, saxophones and keyboards. The composer suggests the performers try mixed configurations. 9.95
- S719. *Dew Drop Saxophone Quartet (AAAA/AATT) by Ed Harlow. Advance Music, 2010, SS, includes score and parts. Dew Drop is a fun, easy swinging tune for 2nd - 4th year sax players. It is scored for four alto saxes with an additional two tenor parts that can be substituted for altos 3 and/or 4. It also may be useful for woodwind methods classes. 17.95
- S650. *Gallop Thunder Saxophone Quartet (SATB/AATB) by Ed Harlow. Advance Music, 2010, SS, includes score and parts. The distributor described this piece as "A Chinese-styled barn burner for the advanced saxophone quartet, this intensely paced crowd pleaser features fast action for all players. Showcasing strong technique and solid ensemble cohesion, it's a great piece to close out a concert program." Advanced high school/early college level. 18.95
- S178. *Concerto for Alto Saxophone and Band (Piano Reduction) by Walter S. Hartley. Tenuto Publications, 1967, SS, 24 + 8 pages. Dedicated to Don Sinta and the Ithaca College Concert Band. Three movements: Adagio/Allegro molto feroce/Adagio, Andante (in 7/8), and Allegro scherzando. The third movement has a cadenza. Has some optional high altissimo in each movement. Advanced college level. About 12 minutes in duration. 17.95
- S573. *Dance Suite for Violin, Alto Saxophone and Piano by Walter S. Hartley. Ethos Publications, 1991, SS, (includes parts and piano score). This piece was written in 1985 and is dedicated to Lawrence and Gail Gwozdz. It is in three movements: 1. Polonaise brillante: Allegretto (mm=120), Valse Lente (in one at mm=56), and Polka Fantasque: Allegro deciso (mm=138). The violin and saxophone parts appear to be relatively challenging with multiples stops in the violin part and a few places with high altissimo in the saxophone part. Duration about 6:30. 19.95
- S179. *Duo for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Walter S. Hartley. Tenuto Publications, 1965, SS, 19 + 4 pages. Dedicated to Don Sinta. A one movement piece with Allegro and Lento sections. Has some optional high altissimo. Upper college level. About 4 1/2 minutes. [E] 14.95
- S260. *Poem for Tenor Saxophone and Piano by Walter S. Hartley. Tenuto Publications, 1968, SS, 3 + 1 pages. Dedicated to James Houlik. A popular piece in the college repertoire for tenor saxophone. It is marked Andante molto and is about 3 1/2 minutes. [E] 7.95

- S675. *Six Southern Folk Hymns and Variants of a Southern Song for Soprano, Alto and Tenor Saxophones by Walter S. Hartley. Masters Music, SS, includes parts and score. This is actually a suite of six short hymns (1. Amazing Grace, 2. The Babe of Bethlehem, 3. Wondrous Love, 4. Christian Prospect, 5. The Promised Land and 6. Hallelujah) from an 1854 edition of the Southern Harmony and Musical Companion plus the Variants which is based on "Idumea" by Ananais Davison (1818) and is a longer work (the parts are two pages long). The hymns are quite easy while the Variants is at an advanced high school/early college level. 10.95

C827. Soliloquy & Scherzo for E-Flat Soprano Saxophone or E-Flat Clarinet and Piano by Walter S. Hartley. Ethos Publications, 2001, 7 + 3 pages. . The Soliloquy is marked Adagio. The Scherzo is in three sections; 2/4 Allegro, 6/8 Vivace, and a final 2/4 Presto. Early college level (with proficiency on the instrument probably a bigger issue than the notes). Duration of about 4:00. ☐ 10.95

S338. Seven Saxophonian Folk Dances for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Paul Harvey. Neil A. Kjos Music Co., 1976, (parts only). From the mythical land of Saxophonia (where the main industry is Arundo donax) come these seven dances. 1. Dance of Welcome, 2. Virgins' Dance, 3. Mating Dance, 4. Funeral Dance, 5. Cane-Cutting Dance, 6. Cane-Seasoning Dance, and 7. Dance of the New Reeds. College level. 6.50

S628. Trois Bagatelles (d'après Enrico Bossi) for Saxophone Quartet (S/AATB) freely arranged by Willy Hautvast. Tierolf Muziekcentrale, SS, includes parts and score. Enrico Bossi (1861-1925) is described by Willy Hautvast as an Italian composer who didn't become very famous. Nevertheless, Hautvast thought these three short piano pieces were perfect for saxophone or clarinet quartets. Part 1 is a joyous, frivolous Allegro. Part 2 is a solemn, somewhat melancholy Andante. Part 3 is a cheerful scherzo-like Finale. Better high school quartets and up with a duration of about 8 minutes. 31.95

S829. Tuxedo Junction for Saxophone Quartet (AATB) by Erskine Hawkins, William Johnson and Julian Dash arranged by Les Sabina. Kendor Music, 1940/2010, SS, includes parts and score. This big band classic made famous by the Glenn Miller Orchestra in 1939 is presented here in a quartet setting that retains all the excitement of the swing era. Bluesy riffs, walking bass lines and tight section harmonizations are all included. Publisher's (US) grade 4 with a duration of 2:45. 14.50

C1694. Concerto for Clarinet or Soprano Saxophone and Piano by Franz Joseph Haydn arranged by Willem Meijns. Molenaar Edition, SS, 26 + 7 pages. An arrangement for clarinet or soprano saxophone of the Haydn oboe concerto, which is generally regarded as not being by Haydn. In three movements: 1. Allegro spiritoso, 2. Andante and 3. Rondo (Allegretto). Suggested for better high school performers and up. 16.95

S969. Haydn Trio No. 1 arranged for two alto saxophones and one tenor saxophone by A. Novak. Edition Darok, 2010, SS, includes parts and score. This is the first London Trio (Hob.:IV/1) which was originally written for two flutes and cello. Three movements: I. Allegro, II. Andante, and III. Vivace. Should be a lot of fun for all three performers. Advanced high school/early college level. 24.95

S491. 2 Ragtime Classics Arranged for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Ted Hegvik. Et Certera Productions, 1995, SS, (parts only). S258. Diversion for Alto Saxophone and Band Piano Reduction by Bernhard Heiden. Etoile Music/Keiser Classical, 1984, SS, 9 + 4 pages. Born in Germany, Heiden (1910-2000), settled in the United States in 1935. This piece was composed in 1943 when he was a member of an US Army band. This piece is sectional but without breaks between movements: Moderato, Andante, and Allegro molto. This is the least difficult of Heiden's works for solo saxophone. ☐ 14.95

S101. Solo for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Bernhard Heiden. Associated Music Publishers, 1973, SS, 12 + 3 pages. Written in 1969 and dedicated to Eugene Rousseau, this is a one of a number of works for saxophone by Heiden. It shows the influence of Hindemith who was one of Heiden's teachers. It is in four sections; Lento, Allegro, Tempo I, and Allegro molto then finishes with a brief Vivace flourish. College level. 12.95

S103. Sonata for E flat Saxophone and Piano by Bernhard Heiden. Schott, 1943, SS, 32 + 9 pages. Written in 1937 for Larry Teal who premiered it that year. In three movements: Allegro, Vivace, and Adagio/

Presto/Adagio/Presto molto vivace. While generally considered a mid-college level work, it is frequently used for college auditions. 20.95

S957. Quintet Op. 21 for Alto Saxophone and String Quartet by Kevin Hill. Comus Edition, 2000, SS, includes parts and score. Kevin Hill (1962-) is a British violist, conductor and composer. This is a piece abounding in rhythmic vitality and sparkling ideas. In three movements: 1. Allegro, 2. Tranquillo, and 3. Giocoso. Range to altissimo G sharp. An advanced work with a duration of 29 minutes. 42.95

S193. Concert Piece for Two Alto Saxophones by Paul Hindemith. Schott, 1983, SS, 15 pages (in score format). Written in 1935, this work has two movements: Lebhaft and Mäßig langsam with each movement having a number of sections. Written at the suggestion of Sigurd Rascher, it was not performed in public until 1960. College level. 12.95

S106. Sonate for Alto Horn in E flat and Piano or French Horn or Alto Saxophone by Paul Hindemith. Schott, 1956, SS. Written in 1943, this work has three movements: Ruhig bewegt, Lebhaft, sehr langsam, and Lebhaft. This edition includes a "supplementary suggestion" by Jean-Maria Londeix that moves the melody line from the first half of the last movement from the piano (which is playing alone) to the saxophone. This results in a much more virtuoso character appropriate for a saxophone sonata. ... 19.95

S817. Trio Op. 47 for Viola, Heckelphone or Tenor Saxophone, and Piano by Paul Hindemith. Schott, 1929, SS. Includes all parts and piano score. The piece is in two movements. The first has three sections: a piano solo, an arioso for heckelphone (tenor saxophone) and piano, and a heckelphone-violoncello duet with piano accompaniment. The second movement, entitled Potpourri, is divided into four independent sections: Schnelle Halbe (in fast half notes), Lebhaft (lively), Schnelle Halbe, and Prestissimo all fast tempi. The first two sections use strict thematic counterpoint, while the last two are in a free toccata-like style. College level with a duration of about 15 minutes. 34.95

S584. Psalm for Tenor & Soprano Saxophone and Organ by C. René Hirschfeld. Hofmeister, 2004, SS, 20 + 4 pages. C. René Hirschfeld (1965-) is a German composer, musician, and musical director. This is a contemporary piece for saxophone and organ. It includes flutter tonguing, and multiphonics (fingerings given). The soprano saxophone part is at the end of the piece. This can optionally be played in the extended altissimo range on the tenor saxophone. While the tempo is not fast (mm=66-76), the contemporary techniques called for make this an advanced piece. 19.95

S852. Jig from St. Paul's Suite Op. 29 by Gustav Holst arranged for Saxophone Quintet (SAATB) by Albert Loritz. Advance Music, 2011, SS, includes parts and score. Jig is the first movement of the St. Paul's Suite originally for string orchestra. It includes a note in English and German which explains how this piece was adapted for saxophone quartet. Advanced high school/early college level. 19.95

S469. Concerto da Camera by Arthur Honegger transcribed for alto saxophone by Jean-Marie Londeix. Salabert, 1990, SS, 9 pages. Concerto da Camera was composed in 1948, originally for flute, English horn and chamber orchestra (there is a piano reduction). This is a transcription of the English horn part so it may be performed on alto saxophone. In three movements: I. Allegro cantabile, II. Andante, and III. Vivace. ☐ 12.95

WW247. English Sonata (Engelse Sonate) for Oboe (or Clarinet or Soprano/Tenor Saxophone) and Piano by James Hook edited by Ber Joosen. Molenaar, SS, 10 + 2 pages. James Hook (1746-1827) was an English composer and musician who enjoyed many years of success starting at age 6. In three movements: Allegro non troppo, Moderato, and Giocoso. Includes parts in B-flat and C. Better high school players. ☐ 12.95

S883. Ayres (based on songs by John Dowland) for Soprano Saxophone and Piano by Katherine Hoover. Papagena Press, 2011, SS, 16 + 4 pages. After she heard the soprano saxophone played in a cathedral and was struck by its beautiful vocal quality, Katherine Hoover chose to arrange three Elizabethan lute songs by English Renaissance composer John Dowland. From the composer: "I have treated [these songs] in somewhat varying ways; counterpoint in the first, some variations in the second, and rhythmic play in the last, always being informed by the original song and/or words. These songs were commonly called Airs, or 'Ayres,' in the spelling of the time." The songs are "Can She Excuse My Wrongs," "Weep No More Sad Fountains," and "Fine Knacks for Ladies." The main challenge is the mixed meter in all pieces. The last note is an altissimo G. College level players who are comfortable with the frequent meter changes will enjoy these. 17.95

S229. Two Lyric Pieces for Tenor Saxophone and Piano arranged by James Houlik. Southern Music Co., 1974, SS, 8 + 2 pages. The pieces are Beau Soir by Claude Debussy and Largo by Frederic Chopin. High school level. ☐ 4.00

S689. Suite of Old American Spirituals Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Brad Howey. Advance Music, 2010, SS, includes score and parts. Includes: Great Day, What Yo' Gwine Do When Yo' Lamp Burn Down, By An' By (I'm Gwinter Lay Down My Heavy Load), Deep River, Heav'n Boun' Soldier, and Great Day (Reprise). The publishers web site says "Suite of American Spirituals is a delightful journey through one of America's most important musical contributions: the American Spiritual." These are not particularly difficult and should be good for a high school quartet or others who need a piece from this genre. 18.95

S603. Idea in Latin Saxophone Quartet (SATB/AATB) by Valentin Hude. Advance Music, 2009, SS, includes score and parts. An original piece with a Latin jazz feel. The baritone sax has an important role. The alternate part for alto sax instead of soprano sax is quite high (up to altissimo G). Advanced high school level. 17.95

S218. Opcit for Tenor Saxophone Solo by Philippe Hurel. Billaudot, 1992. Philippe Hurel (1955-) is a French composer of mostly orchestral and chamber works. This advanced contemporary piece, written in 1984, is printed on 8 double pages and has four movements. 27.95

S194. Concerto for Alto Saxophone and Concert Band Piano Reduction by Karel Husa. Associated Music Publishers, 1972, SS, 36 + 12 pages. Karel Husa (1921-) is a Czech born composer and conductor, trained in Prague and Paris, who taught at Cornell for many years. This piece was commissioned by the Cornell Wind Ensemble who premiered it in 1967 with Sigurd Rascher as the soloist and the composer conducting. The piano reduction is by the composer who writes that it may be used for recitals. Three movements: 1. Prologue, II. Ostrato, and III. Epilogue. Advanced college/professional level. 22.95

S149. Élégie et Rondeau for Alto Saxophone and Orchestra (Piano Reduction) by Karel Husa. Alphonse Leduc, 1961, SS, 15 + 7 pages. This piece is dedicated to Sigurd M. Rascher. The brief Élégie is marked Quasi improvisando. The extended Rondeau is marked Allegretto and starts in 6/8 changing to 2/4. Upper college level. 29.85

S907. Paradigm Lost for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Lee Hyla. Carl Fischer, 2005/2012, SS, includes score and parts. Paradigm Lost is in one continuous movement and explores the contrast between quiet, delicate, recessive music, and more aggressive takes on what, down deep, is similar material. The attempts to resolve these different takes, or the failure to resolve them, are at the heart of the piece. As the music progresses, the quartet divides into various duo and solo/trio combinations in which the recurring thematic materials are heard in changing contexts. There are many tempo changes and odd meters (such as 2/4 + 1/8) are common. Dedicated to the Prism Quartet. College level with a duration of 12 minutes. 24.25

S424. L'Age d'or for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Jacques Ibert. Alphonse Leduc, 1956, SS, 4 + 2 pages. Marked Calmo ed espressiv (quarter note = 63), this piece begins with a short lyrical section which is followed by rising and falling sixteenth note phrases at the same tempo until almost the end of the piece. Early college level with a duration of about 4:50. ☐ 15.75

S087. Concertino da Camera for Alto Saxophone and Eleven Instruments (Piano Reduction) by Jacques Ibert. Alphonse Leduc, 1935, SS, 23 + 6 pages. An important piece in the saxophone repertoire. Two movements: Allegro con moto and Larghetto (which changes to Animato molto after 54 measures). 40.90

S170. Histoires by Jacques Ibert arranged for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Marcel Mule. Alphonse Leduc, 1939, SS, 23 + 8 pages. Marcel Mule has taken eight of the ten pieces Ibert wrote for piano as Histoires and arranged them for alto saxophone and piano. Early college level. 40.90

S649. Avocado for Saxophone Quartet (AATB) by Klaus Ignatzek arranged by Frank Reinshagen. Advance Music, 2010, SS, includes score and parts. This calypso by Klaus Ignatzek is meant to musically portray the optimism and zest for life that's common among Caribbean people. Early college level with short solos (written out but with the changes) for each part. 17.95

S408. Concerto for Alto Saxophone and Orchestra (Piano Reduction) by Yasudhide Ito. Editions Henry Lemoine, 1992, 20 pages. There is one copy of the saxophone part and the piano reduction included. It includes a great deal of cross cuing. Yasudhide Ito (1960-) is a Japanese composer, conductor, and pianist. This is a challenging contemporary piece in two movements. The first is marked Allegro Molto. The second begins Lento but has many changes in tempo ending Molto allegro. 19.95

S410. Suite Hellénique for Soprano or Alto Saxophone and Piano by Pedro Iturralde. Henry Lemoine, 2001, SS, 15 + 5 pages, (includes parts for both soprano and alto). An interesting work with Greek style music surrounding two jazz style pieces. The pieces are: Kalamatianos (in 7/8), Funky (with an invitation to improvise in the mixolydian), and Valse which ends with a Coda (Kritis/Kalamatianos). 21.95

S595. Three Songs by Charles Ives for Alto or Tenor Saxophone and Piano arranged by James Boatman. Alry Publications, 2001, SS, 8 + 2 pages, (includes parts for both alto saxophone and tenor saxophone). The three songs are In Summer Fields (1898), from "Night of Frost in May" (1899), and Two Little Flowers (1921). While the solo parts are at the intermediate level, the piano part for the third song is primarily a repeating 7/8 phrase (the kind of thing we expect from Ives) which will add some challenge to the ensemble. 14.95

S336. Miscellanies Seven Pieces for Alto Saxophone and Wind Orchestra (Piano Reduction) by Gordon Jacob. Emerson Edition, 1976, SS, 26 + 10 pages. They are: 1. Scallic Prelude (Allegro giocoso), 2. Folk Song (Moderato con moto), 3. Moto Perpetuo (Allegro molto, quasi presto), 4. Interlude (Andante), 5. Gavotte (Tempo di Gavotta), 6. Dirge (Largo), and 7. Quick March (Vivace alla marcia). Early college level. 19.95

Ob204. Rhapsody for Cor Anglais (or Alto Saxophone) and Strings (Piano Reduction) by Gordon Jacob arranged by John Addison (piano reduction). Stainer & Bell, 1950, SS, 11 + 2 pages (includes both cor anglais and alto saxophone parts). This work with a duration of 9 minutes is sectional with alternating slow and fast segments. Better high school players and up. 16.50

S487. Sonata for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Wolfgang Jacobi. Bourne Co., 1965, SS, 21 + 8 pages. Wolfgang Jacobi (1894-1972) was a German composer and music professor. He considered himself to be a neo-classical composer and this piece, which was written in 1930, is in that mold. Dedicated to Sigurd Rascher, it is in three movements: I. Allegro, ma non troppo, II. Sarabande, and III. Allegro. Upper college level with a duration of about 10 minutes. 10.50

S301. Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Karel Janovický. Rosewood, 2006. Karel Janovický (1930-) is a Czech born composer who has lived and worked in Britain since age 20. Handel's Arrival of the Queen of Sheba was the inspiration for the first movement (Celebration). In the second movement (Adagio in a Garden), the soprano saxophone colors the nocturnal setting with some soft cries of a little bird. The quartet concludes with a lively Rondo. Advanced college/professional level. 19.95

S302. Sonata for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Karel Janovický. Rosewood, 2000, SS, 30 + 10 pages. The composer wrote, "I drew inspiration for the form of the first movement from the poetic device of terza rima (or terzina) which allows the music to both move on and return in a 'rhyming' fashion. The second movement I called Arie (songs) which is simply all it is. And the Finale is a lively, fast Rondo." An advanced level piece. 15.95

S513. First Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Gordon Jacob. Emerson Edition, 1974, (includes score and parts). Written for the London Saxophone Quartet. In four movements: I. Allegro moderato, II. Scherzo - Allegro molto/Trio alla Musette, III. Adagio molto, and IV. Alla marcia, con spirito. When this was written Paul Harvey said, "It is unique in that it is only saxophone quartet of major proportions and universal appeal by a British composer." Early college level. 21.95

S514. Second Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Gordon Jacob. Emerson Edition, 1979, (parts only). Written for the London Saxophone Quartet. In four movements: 1. Moderato/Allegro moderato, 2. Adagio, 3. Allegro moderato, and 4. Larghetto/Allegro. Slightly more dissonant in style than the

First Saxophone Quartet, the composer considered it to be one of his best works. Early college level. 24.95

S493. Quatuor pour Saxophones (SATB) by Faustin and Maurice Jeanjean. Salabert, 1949, (includes score and parts). Dedicated to the saxophone quartet of the Garde Républicain. In four movements: I. Gaieté Villageoise (Allegro non troppo), II. Doux Paysage (Andantino calme), III. Papillons (Scherzo) (Allegro vivo in 1), IV. Concert sur la Place (Humoristique) (Allegro). This is an enjoyable saxophone quartet at the early college level with a duration of about 11:30. 28.95

S636. Nightsong for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Allen Johnson. G. Schirmer, 1996, SS, 4 + 2 pages. A very pleasant composition. Saxophonist Kenneth Radnofsky (on our CD315) writes in his liner notes, "Composer Allen Johnson heals from Knoxville, Tennessee, and while his 'Nightsong' in many respects resembles Samuel Barber's own famous composition 'Knoxville Summer 1915,' it has a cosmopolitan influence evoking the same emotions as some of the most beautiful works of Ravel and Debussy." Not too difficult, probably early college level at most, but expression is what matters most in this piece. Duration about 5 minutes. 10.95

S808. Épisode Quatrième for Tenor Saxophone Solo by Betsy Jolas. Leduc, 1984, 6 pages. Betsy Jolas (1926-) is a French composer who lived and studied in the United States from 1940-46. She has taught in both France and the United States. The notes in the music say, "...the present piece is designed to offer a step-by-step exploration of the entire register of this fine instrument with an almost systematic outward and return journey." It includes slap tonguing, circular breathing and contemporary notation. The duration is 8:15. 15.45

Pueri apud magistros exercentur by Betsy Jolas. Betsy Jolas (1926-) is a French composer who lived and studied in the United States from 1940-46. She has taught in both France and the United States. The composer has kindly supplied this description of these pieces: "These four progressive pieces for two alto saxophones are conceived as master-teacher (magister-pueri) duets to be played in lesson or in concert. Hence the general title borrowed from Cicero: Pueri apud magistros exercentur (children practice with masters). It should be noted that here, the master's part is the easiest of the two, so as to allow him to check his student's performance while playing himself. These pieces may be played separately under their respective titles, or as a suite with the above latin title and in the following order: Allô!, Walking ground, Oh là!, and Scat. Played as a suite, these four pieces form a consistent whole where unity is achieved through numerous thematic relationships. Among the most recognizable is a succession of twelve notes treated throughout the four pieces as a kind of leitmotiv-row, which governs the young saxophonists' imagination in their approach to each title."

S809. Allô! for two Alto Saxophones by Betsy Jolas. Leduc, 2008, 5 pages. In Allô!, the student will evoke their experience with the telephone: the ringing, the answering, and the back and forth conversations. 3:05. 13.50

S810. Walking ground for two Alto Saxophones by Betsy Jolas. Leduc, 2008, 4 pages. In this piece the student will then join in with the regular (Walking) quarter notes treading over the unchanging paving (ground) of the leitmotiv. 3:15. 13.75

S811. Oh là! for two Alto Saxophones by Betsy Jolas. Leduc, 2008, 6 pages. Oh là! will surely remind the student of Allô! It's the other call, the one you yell out at a distance in full voice. 3:40. 15.75

S812. Scat for two Alto Saxophones by Betsy Jolas. Leduc, 2008, 6 pages. The student will finally have fun talking in Scat, the virtuoso improvised language of bygone jazz stars. 3:00. 15.75

These are definitely progressive with the first at the advanced intermediate level and the last with extended technique and high altissimo.

S156. Fantaisie - Impromptu for Alto Saxophone and Piano by André Jolivet. Alphonse Leduc, 1953, SS, 4 + 2 pages. French composer André Jolivet (1905-1974) was a contemporary of Olivier Messiaen who wrote widely in many forms and for a variety of ensembles. This short piece starts with a 5/4 Adagio, increases speed slightly and then goes into a 3/4 Allegro for most of the rest of the piece. College level. 15.45

S157. Cantilène et Danse for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Denis Joly. Alphonse Leduc, 1949, SS, 7 + 2 pages. The Cantilène is Andantino cantabile and in 3/4 while the Danse is Allegro scherzando and predominantly in 6/8. Early college level. 19.15

S599. The Entertainer for Tenor Saxophone and Piano by Scott Joplin arranged by Frank J. Halferty. Kendor Music, 2010, 6 + 2 pages. The famous Scott Joplin tune arranged for tenor saxophone and piano. The publisher rates it as (US) grade 4 but it probably isn't that difficult. 17.95

S784. Impromptu for Alto Saxophone and Organ (or Electronic Keyboard or Piano) by M. William Karlins. Southern Music Co., 2003, SS, 19 + 10 pages. Martin William Karlins (1932-2005) was an American composer of contemporary classical music. He taught at Northwestern University beginning for many years and wrote a number of pieces for Frederick Hemke. In three movements: I. Giocoso con abbandono, II. Luttoso, and III. Con Energia. This is an advanced work with some mixed meter and altissimo to A. The use of an organ or keyboard that can duplicate the sound and range of an organ is recommended. 9.95

S221. Music for Tenor Saxophone and Piano by M. William Karlins. Southern Music Co., 1990, SS, 16 + 16 pages. Two copies of score with both parts are included. In three movements with the second dedicated to the memory of Coleman Hawkins. Includes performance notes. While actual extended technique is minimal, contemporary notation and improvisational sections are found throughout. Advanced level. 12.95

S180. Seasons for Solo Saxophonist by M. William Karlins. Tritone Press, 1990, SS, 8 pages. Dedicated to Frederick Hemke. This piece has four movements named after the seasons. It uses some extended techniques and can be played using soprano, alto, and tenor, or alto and tenor, or alto or tenor. It includes program notes and some corrections (mostly dynamics and articulations) dated 2002. Advanced level. 8.95

S895. Oriental for Soprano and Alto Saxophones with Piano by Masanori Katoh. Zen-On Music, 2011, SS, includes parts and piano score. This advanced piece could be called a trio as the piano part is important. The soprano saxophone part goes up to altissimo A (optionally higher) while the alto part reaches altissimo C. The duration is about 8 minutes. 24.95

S357. Meditation for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Walter Kaufmann. MMB Music, 1988, SS, 6 + 1 pages. Walter Kaufmann (1907-1984) was a Czech born composer, conductor, musicologist, and educator who lived in the United States from 1957. This piece was dedicated to Eugene Rousseau on his 50th birthday (1982) and has been edited by Rousseau. It is in one movement (Moderato cantabile) but has three sections. 14.95

S379. From the Mountains Suite for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Hugo Kaun. Ethos Publications, 2006, SS, 21 + 7 pages. Hugo Kaun (1863-1932) was a German composer in the Romantic. This is a programmatic work create for the young saxophonist Sigurd Rascher in 1932 which depicts the composer's musical impressions of a trip to the Tyrolean Alps. It is in three movements: 1. Sunset - Glowing Alps (Sehr ruhig, und ausdrucksvoll), 2. The Mountains Awaken - Night (Lebhaft), and 3. Day-break - New Life (Ruhig, ausdrucksvoll). This is a scholarly edition with notes on the editing and definitions of the German language terms that appear in the score. Early college level. 17.95

S451. Solo for Alto Saxophone by Rudolf Kelterborn. Baerenreiter (BA 7437), 1995, SS, 4 pages. Rudolf Kelterborn (1931-) is a Swiss composer. Commissioned for the 51st International Saxophone Competition, Geneva, Switzerland, held in 1995, this is an advanced work using some extended techniques (mostly articulation) and contemporary notation. 12.95

WW236. Three Polish Dances arranged for Two Alto Saxophones or Alto and Tenor Saxophone by Terry Kenny. Comus Publications (Comus Edition), 1991, 5 pages in score format plus an additional part for tenor saxophone. The three dances are Cracovienne (Allegro moderato), Tamara (Andante con moto) and Trepak (which begins "Very deliberately" and speeds up step by step until "as fast as possible"). In addition to the saxophones suggested by Kenny, this can also be played by any two like saxophones, clarinets, or oboes. 8.95

S723. Fantasia Op. 198 for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Gábor Kerek. EditionDarak, 2011, SS, 18 + 6 pages. Gábor Kerek (1971-) is a Hungarian composer. This work begins Allegro and is in a fast/slow/fast/slow format. Some mixed meter to challenge the college level saxophonist. The duration is listed as 8:43. 29.95

S928. Schneelicht - bebend weiss for Saxophone Quartet (SSSS doubling SATB) by Camille Kerger. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, SS, (includes score and parts). Composer Camille Kerger (1957-) is from Luxembourg. He studied there and in Germany and has performed as a trombonist and lyric tenor. Commissioned by and dedicated to the Amstel Saxophone Quartet. Beginning with 4 sopranos, Kerger deftly weaves a continuous pattern through the entire group. Elements of duos and trios appear as performers eventually shift to a traditional SATB setting. The title, loosely translated as Light Snow - Quivering White, is aptly applied. The appropriate and very musical application of dissonance is reminiscent of Vivaldi's "Winter" from The Four Seasons. This is a highly effective piece, wonderfully written and something audiences will remember for all the right reasons! Performance considerations include the use of bisbigliando, altissimo and multiphonics in the sax 2 part (on alto sax with fingerings given). Total performance time is about 7:30. 46.95

S690. Six Exchanges for Saxophone by Lothar Klein. Tenuto Publications, 1972, 6 pages. This solo piece dedicated to Paul Brodie (who has recorded it on soprano saxophone) would be most suitable for soprano or alto saxophone. It has six movements and can be played in its entirety or in either of two groups of three specified by the composer. It is without marked time signatures although most measures have 4 quarter notes. College level with a duration of 6:30. [E] 19.95

S109. Monolog 4 Saxophone by Erland von Koch. Gehrmans, 1997, SS, 4 pages. This piece for solo saxophone was written in 1975 and is dedicated to Sigurd and Carina Rascher. It is in two parts. Part I is rhapsodic, marked Andante espressivo, and is made up of short segments without bar lines. Part II is Allegro molto vivace and alternates between 6/8 and 2/4 with an occasional 3/4 bar. College level. [E] 16.95

S618. As with Gladness, Men of Old for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Conrad Kocher arranged by Bill Perconti. Advance Music, 2009, (includes score and parts). The lyrics for this Christmas carol were written by Englishman William Dix (1837-1898) in the 1860s. The tune was included in a collection of German chorales edited by Conrad Kocher and published in the 1830s. This arrangement for saxophone quartet, strives to include all the players in the music making. Intermediate level. 15.95

S273. Five Sketches for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Paul Kont. Doblinger, 1993, (includes score and parts). Paul Kont (1920-2000) was an Austrian composer who wrote a wide range of work including, opera, symphonies, and film music. The five sketches in the quartet are: Free Matches (Allegro Vivace), Austrian Melancholy, Silly Cilli, Late Holidays, and Playboy of the Southern World. Early college level with the main challenges being rhythmic. Low A baritone sax is suggested. 40.95

S661. Echo from the Past for Saxophone Quintet (SATTB/AATTB) by Christian Korthals. Advance Music, 2010, SS, includes parts and score. What begins as a cloud of mysterious sounds turns into a contemplative melody played by soprano sax. Then all five players start swinging, the baritone lays down a walking line, and finally everyone launches into a soli followed by an expandable solo section (written out and with changes for the lead part, 1st tenor, and bari). Advanced players will find the intonation and rhythmic feel challenging. 17.95

S905. Flor Mixteca for Saxophone Quintet (SATTB/AATTB) and optional percussion by Christian Korthals. Advance Music, 2011, SS, includes parts and score. The percussion part is for the guiro. Flor Mixteca is a lively latin piece with a catchy groove and a fresh melody, with a touch of melancholy in the bridge. It combines elements from chacha, tango, bossa and salsa. The optional solo vamps are harmonically simple. 19.95

S966. Armenian Lament and Dance for alto saxophone and piano by Béla Kovács. Edition Darok, 2013, SS, 9 + 4 pages. This begins with three short sections: Moderato, Andante (mostly a cadenza) and Allegro, then concludes with an Allegro molto section which is about 2 1/2 of the 4 pages of the saxophone part. Optional altissimo to A. College level with a duration of 2:40. [E] 22.15

S207. Fable for Baritone Saxophone and Piano by Jan Krzywicki. Tenuto Publications, 2006, SS, 20 + 8 pages. The composer wrote, "Fable unfolds like an allegorical narrative, similar to many a fable by Aesop. The work begins 'once upon a time' and moves through a series of events that include conflicts, reflections, contests, and chases . . . [leading] to the climax and eventually to the story's elegiac 'moral.'" Upper college level with a duration of about 11 minutes. 14.95

S782. Pièce Concertante for alto or tenor saxophone and orchestra of 13 instruments (piano reduction) by Guy Lacour. Billaudot, 1977, 19 + 5 pages (includes both alto and tenor parts). Guy Lacour (1932-) is a French composer and saxophonist. This is in two movements. The first is marked Largo. It includes many odd meters and has a cadenza near the conclusion. The second movement is marked Presto. It begins and ends in 6/8 but has a middle section in 2/4. The tenor part is generally in the upper range but the highest note is altissimo F-sharp. Much of the alto part is the same sounding pitch as the tenor, but there are places with options to take it high into the altissimo. 27.45

S756. Suite en Duo for Two Saxophones by Guy Lacour. Billaudot, 1971, SS, 13 pages (two copies score format). Guy Lacour (1932-) is a French composer and saxophonist. The score says these pieces can also be played by two oboes or two clarinets. It is in 4 movements: I. Allegro, II. Aria, III. Petite Fugue (Allegro moderato), and IV. Largo puis Scherzetto. College level with a duration of about 10 minutes. 21.95

S377. I Never Saw Another Butterfly for soprano voice and alto saxophone. Music by Lori Laitman and texts by children of the Holocaust. Arsis Press, 1998, SS. Includes two parts in score format. Based on poetry by children from the Terezin concentration camp and written in 1996, the six songs of the cycle use varied imagery and musical styles. The composer writes: "One cannot help but be touched by the hope and innocence that these children put into their poetry, despite their terrible surroundings. The accompaniment of the saxophone is intended to be haunting and soulful, with echoes of Klezmer music." The song titles are: The Butterfly, Yes-That's the Way Things Are, Birdsong, Man Proposes, God Disposes, and The Old House. 19.95

V036. Living in the Body for soprano voice and alto saxophone. Music by Lori Laitman to six poems of Joyce Sutphen. Enchanted Nickers Music, 2002, SS, 21 pages. Includes two copies both in score format, one for the vocalist with saxophone part in concert key and the other for the saxophonist with the part transposed. There are six songs: 1. Burning the Woods of My Childhood, 2. Living in the Body, 3. Not for Burning, 4. Lost at Table, 5. Bring on the Rain, 6. Crossroads. College level with a few high altissimo notes in some songs. 19.95

S263. Six Barefoot Dances for Two Alto Saxophones by John David Lamb. McGinnis & Marx, 1971, SS, 11 pages (score format). We are sure they will work well for soprano saxophones (and probably clarinets or flutes, too). These popular duets feature mixed meter throughout. Advanced high school or early college level. [E] 4.95

S334. Three Antique Dances for Alto Saxophone Solo by John David Lamb. Ethos Publications, 1991, 4 pages. Three short dances: I. Estampie (Lively), II. Pavane (Slow and warm - rubato), and III. Saltarello (Fast and loose). These would probably rate as upper intermediate level except for the high altissimo (up to what trumpet players call triple high C) in the first and third dances that makes them look like flute music. Excellent for those who want to perform music that demonstrates their proficiency in the altissimo. The duration is 5 minutes. [E] 8.95

S214. Andante et Scherzetto for saxophone quartet (SATB) by Pierre Lantier. Billaudot, 1941, (includes parts and score). Pierre Lantier (1910-1998) was a French composer who won the Prix de Rome in 1937. This looks like an interesting quartet. The Andante is in 6/4 with quarter note = 84 while the Scherzetto is in 6/8 with a dotted quarter = 176. College level with the tempo of the last movement being the primary technical challenge. 56.95

S158. Sicilienne for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Pierre Lantier. Alphonse Leduc, 1944, SS, 6 + 2 pages. This piece starts in E-flat, moves to A, and then back to the original key with plenty of accidentals to challenge the better high school or early college performer. [E] 19.15

S135. Holy Roller for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Libby Larsen. Oxford University Press, 1998, SS, 27 + 10 pages. Holy Roller was inspired by classic revival preaching and is a revival sermon captured in the sounds of the alto sax and piano. A substantial work for skilled performers. . 21.95

S068. Concerto for Saxophone and String Orchestra Op. 14 by Lars-Erik Larsson. Gehrmans, 1952, SS, 38 + 12 pages. Piano Reduction. A virtuoso concerto for alto saxophone dedicated to Sigurd M. Rascher. Three movements Allegro molto moderato, Adagio, and Allegro scherzando. The first and third movements have extended cadenzas. 46.95

S921. Arak 18th Etude for Solo Soprano Saxophone by Christian Lauba. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, 6 pages. Dedicated to Jeffrey Vickers (the publisher as well as a saxophonist). This piece is titled after a Moroccan village and style of music. Clearly influenced by Eastern music, several sections are reminiscent of a shawm. Advanced techniques required include multiphonics, slap-tonguing, flutter-tonguing, and 1/4 tone vibrato manipulation. A section of intense virtuosity exists in the middle section consisting of asymmetrical rhythmic groupings. Multiphonic fingerings are given and they are also cross-referenced to Les Sons Multiples aux Saxophones by Daniel Kientzy (our S040). 21.50

S929. Bebop 22nd Etude for Solo Alto Saxophone by Christian Lauba. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, 8 pages. Dedicated to Sumner Truax. Etude for the mastery of rhythmic multiphonics, velocity and alternating slaps in a jazz style. Multiphonic fingerings are given and they are also cross-referenced to Les Sons Multiples aux Saxophones by Daniel Kientzy (our S040). 24.95

S934. Bumble Beebop 21st Etude for Solo Alto Saxophone by Christian Lauba. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, 10 pages. Dedicated to Jacob Anthony Hallman. This etude is also for the mastery of rhythmic multiphonics, velocity and alternating slaps in a jazz style. Multiphonic fingerings are given and they are also cross-referenced to Les Sons Multiples aux Saxophones by Daniel Kientzy (our S040). 28.50

S922. Clouds 17th Etude for Alto Saxophone and Synthesizer by Christian Lauba. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, 7 pages + CD. Dedicated to Nicolas Prost. This etude is for the mastery of the integration of multiphonics with the sounds of a recorded synthesizer and trills of large intervals. The background track was originally titled Mist, a synthesized track from saxophonist Richard Ducros' CD titled Hard. The etude requires multiphonics, bisbigliandi (including those on multiphonics), a great deal of technical virtuosity, and altissimo. Multiphonic fingerings are given and they are also cross-referenced to Les Sons Multiples aux Saxophones by Daniel Kientzy (our S040). 24.95

S452. Dies irae for Soprano Saxophone and Organ by Christian Lauba. Baerenreiter (BA 7479), 1997, 20 + 10 pages. French composer Christian Lauba (1952-) is a leading composer of contemporary music for saxophone. He teaches at the National Conservatory of Bordeaux. This is a challenging work dedicated to Jean-Marie Londeix. For advanced performers with a duration of about 16:20. 32.95

S565. Hard for Solo Tenor Saxophone by Christian Lauba. Editions J.M. Fuzeau, 1994, 12 pages. This piece was commissioned by Jean-Michel Gouy and was premiered at the 9th World Saxophone Congress in Tokyo in 1988. The composer proposes a synthesis between popular music (hard rock, soul) and contemporary classical music. An advanced piece for tenor saxophone featuring many extended techniques including multiphonics (fingerings given), articulation, extreme high notes, fractional pitch trills, etc. The piece is written precisely but should give the impression that it is a long improvisation. 26.95

S933. Partyta 19th Etude for Solo Soprano Saxophone by Christian Lauba. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, 6 pages. Dedicated to Lars Mlekusch. This etude says it is for the mastery of trills of large intervals but the trills are only a small part of the piece. Most of piece is the various arpeggios, some with multiphonics. Multiphonic fingerings are given and they are also cross-referenced to Les Sons Multiples aux Saxophones by Daniel Kientzy (our S040). 23.50

S935. Pent 23rd Etude for Solo Alto Saxophone by Christian Lauba. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, 4 pages. Dedicated to Zachary Pfau. This etude is for the mastery of fifths and larger intervals, legato and slap tonguing. Altissimo to G. Multiphonic fingerings are given and they are also cross-referenced to Les Sons Multiples aux Saxophones by Daniel Kientzy (our S040). 16.95

S788. Steady Study on the Boogie for Alto Saxophone Solo by Christian Lauba. Billaudot, 1995, SS, 18 pages. An advanced sectional piece with a duration of about 12 minutes. It features many extended techniques including multiphonics and some articulation techniques. Circular breathing is recommended in some sections. Fingerings are given for many of the multiphonics but the performer is also referred to Les Sons Multiples aux Saxophones and Hello! Mr. Sax as sources for fingerings that will work on their instrument. 19.95

S931. Sud for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Christian Lauba. Resolute Music Publications, (2012?), 27 + 7 pages. First performed in 1989. This is an advanced work with contemporary techniques and notation for both the saxophone and the piano. There is a page of explanation. 36.95

S842. Sonate en Ré for Two Alto Saxophones by Jean-Marie Leclair adapted by Jean-Marie Londeix. Leduc, 1969, SS, 7 pages (2 copies in score format). Jean-Marie Leclair (1697-1764) was a Baroque violinist and composer. Range to altissimo F-sharp. These pieces will work well for soprano saxophones (and probably clarinets or flutes, too). Early college level. 19.35

S659. Bb-Flat-A-Loogo for saxophone quartet (SATB/AATB) by Peter Lehel. Advance Music, 2010 (includes parts and score). Bb-Flat-A-Loogoo is a boogaloo to be played in straight eighths. It has the form of a classic 12-bar blues and is written in Bb concert pitch, a key most frequently used in sessions. 17.95

S660. Cuel Bloo for saxophone quartet (SATB/AATB) by Peter Lehel. Advance Music, 2010 (includes parts and score). This fun-loving hip-hop composition is based on simple triplet motifs and sounds best when played in a relaxed manner. Players may perform the solo section freely, and it may be extended for additional solos if desired. 17.95

S703. Eddie Who? for saxophone quartet (SATB/AATB) by Peter Lehel. Advance Music, 2011, SS, (includes parts and score). This piece for saxophone quartet is reminiscent of the great groove master, tenor saxophonist Eddie Harris. He was a very independent minded and highly esteemed multi-instrumentalist whose music combined blues, jazz and rock elements. Chord symbols in the first part. Four bars of 7/8. Excellent high school quartets and up. 17.95

S696. Funk-A-Lot for saxophone quartet (SATB/AATB) by Peter Lehel. Advance Music, 2011 (includes parts and score). Believe it or not "Funk-A-Lot" is based on an old Hungarian traditional melody. Good for working on rhythms using 16th notes. Some suggestions for improvisation are given. College level. 17.95

S884. Shades of Light for saxophone quartet (SATB/AATB) by Peter Lehel. Advance Music, 2011, SS, (includes parts and score). Shades of Light is a very serene latin pop jazz piece featuring a cantabile, lyrical melody. The composition was inspired by Sade, who was very popular as a singer in the 1980's. The melody calls for a cool and mellow execution. The solo part should be interpreted in a rhythmically pointed and groovy manner. Early college level with optional solos for the first part. 17.95

S832. Shuffle, Shuffle for saxophone quartet (SATB/AATB) by Peter Lehel. Advance Music, 2011, SS (includes parts and score). This is a shuffle blues based on a 24 bar blues with a slightly extended harmonic structure. There are chord symbols on both of the first parts for optional solos. Early college level. 17.95

S930. Ariana, Kaboul for Solo Alto Saxophone by Robert Lemay. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, 7 pages. Dedicated to Miguel Romero Morán. The composer writes in the forward, "During the reign of the Taliban in Afghanistan, film and music were banned. After the fall of the Taliban, people rushed into the streets with their radios and brought out their televisions. The Ariana cinema was renovated and reopened in 2004." For unaccompanied alto saxophone with optional movie projection (of the performances choice, not included). This piece employs non-traditional performance techniques in the concert hall, including foot stomps, performer movement and gestures. Extended techniques include altissimo, multiphonics, slap-tonguing, key noises and bisbigliandi. Multiphonic fingerings are given. 22.50

S936. Concertto Spaziale for Three Alto Saxophones by Robert Lemay. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, SS, includes parts and score. Dedicated to Echo Rogue Saxophone Quartet, the piece is an homage to the Italian artist Lucio Fontana, who is known as the founder of Spatialism. Consistent with his oeuvre, Lemay incorporates elements of concert hall spacing and non-traditional effects in the piece, including bisbigliandi, slap-tonguing, stomps, breath-effects, and altissimo. It requires two triangles or other metallic percussion instruments of equal pitch. The piece is designed for 3 equal alto saxophones. 40.95

S925. Intimate Echoes for Tenor Saxophone and Piano by Robert Lemay. Resolute Music Publications, 2011, SS, 24 + 8 pages. Commissioned by Dr. Jeffrey E. Vickers in 2010. Lemay's style of incorporating advanced saxophone techniques produces an 'echo-like' effect in this composition. The saxophone produces numerous slap-tongues at loud dynamics, which fade instantly – leaving a very soft chordal 'echo' in the piano. Lemay's modern language and scales present a worthwhile challenge for any saxophonist. Composed with piano accompaniment, Intimate

Echoes would be appropriate for any recital setting. In keeping with his approach, Lemay also uses other extended techniques such as bisbigliandi, multiphonics (fingerings are provided on a separate sheet), and high altissimo. 32.50

V061. Mitsu no kisetsu for Alto or Mezzo Voice and Baritone Saxophone by Robert Lemay. Editions Jobert, SS, 10 pages (score format). This is 3 short pieces on Haiku by Matsuo Basho (1644-1694). This is a relatively challenging work but the vocal text in Japanese shouldn't be a problem. The vocal range is from the A below middle C to the C an octave above middle C (There are glissandos that go higher and lower marked to sing as high or low as the singer can if they can't reach the written notes). The baritone saxophone part goes up to altissimo G.  31.95

S527. When I'm Sixty-Four by John Lennon & Paul McCartney arranged for Saxophone Quartet (SATB or AATB) by Ramon Ricker. Kendor Music, 1967. A Beatles' classic arranged for saxophone quartet. Publisher's (US) grade 4.  10.95

S512. Phonie Douce for Oboe, Alto Saxophone, and Cello by Philippe Leroux. Billaudot, 1991, SS, (includes score and parts). Philippe Leroux (1959-) he has written pieces which encompass several genres: symphonic, electro-acoustic, electronic and chamber music. This piece for an unusual combination of instruments is dedicated to Claude and Odile Delangle. It employs flutter tonguing, some fractional pitches, some contemporary notation, and is in one continuous movement. For advanced players with a duration of about 12 minutes. 29.95

S511. SPP for Soprano Saxophone and Piano by Philippe Leroux. Billaudot, 2001, SS, 29 + 9 pages. An advanced contemporary piece that includes a variety of techniques including flutter tonguing and other articulation styles, altissimo to A, and one multiphonic with fingering given. Duration about 12 minutes. 33.95

S136. Restless for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by Stephen Lias. Southern Music Co., 2006, SS, includes score. Stephen Lias (1966-) has written music for a variety of settings including theatrical incidental music and other saxophone quartets. Restless is in three sections beginning with a moderately fast section in 9/8, a middle section (Slowly) in 3/4, and accelerating to the original tempo for the conclusion. Duration about 4:38. Early college or advanced high school level. 9.95

S640. Sech Bagatellen for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by György Ligeti arranged by Fabio Oehrli. Schott, 2007, SS, (includes parts and score). This work is an arrangement of the Ligeti version for woodwind quintet which is itself an arrangement (1953) of a larger piano work from that period. It still sounds fresh after more than 50 years. The six bagatelles are I. Allegro con spirito, II. Rubato, Lamentoso, III. Allegri grazioso, IV. Presto ruvido, V. Béla Bartók in memoriam (Adagio, Mesto), and VI. Moto vivace, Capriccioso. There are notes in the altissimo register, especially for the soprano but also in the alto and tenor parts. Advanced college/professional level with a duration of about 13 minutes. 34.95

S551. Three Contemporary Saxophone Quartets (SATB) by Robert Linn, Lou Maury, and William Schmidt. Avant Music (Western International Music), 1963, (includes parts and score). Here are three saxophone quartets which are unrelated except by their date of publication and their composers' Los Angeles location. Robert Linn's Quartet for Saxophones is in three movements: 1. Allegro con brio, 2. Poco Adagio (theme and variations), and 3. Vivo. Lowndes (Lou) Maury's Cock of the Walk is a sectional piece in fast/slow/fast format. William Schmidt's Suite for Saxophones has five movements: Prelude (Lento), Capriccio (Allegro con brio), Pavane (Grave), Galliarde (Allegro Scherzando), and Finale (Pesante/Allegro moderato/Pesante). The publisher rates this as (US) grade 4. 24.95

S223. Sonata for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Lawson Lunde. Southern Music Co. 1967, SS, 30 + 11 pages. Lawson Lunde (1935-) is a Chicago based composer and pianist whose numerous compositions for saxophone are noted for their lyricism and rhythmic energy. This Sonata has three movements: I. Allegro, II. Andantino cantabile, and III. Allegro vivace. College level. 16.95

S825. Blue Shift for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Joseph Lyszczarz. Joseph Lyszczarz Music, 2010, SB, 16 + 8 pages. Joseph Lyszczarz is an American composer and flutist. This is a sectional piece with a duration of about 9 minutes. The main sections are Frenetic, Somewhat more relaxed, Meno Mosso, A tempo tumultuous, and Tempo Primo. It includes some growling and slap tonguing, mixed meter and altissimo to B at the end of the piece. 19.95

S667. Sonata for Alto Saxophone and Piano Op. 95 by Trygve Madsen. Musikk-Husets Forlag A/S, 1995, SS, 33 + 10 pages. Trygve Madsen (1940-) is a Norwegian composer who also studied in Vienna. He has been influenced by many of the great classical composer from Bach to Shostakovich, but also plays Jazz piano. This piece is dedicated to Philippe Portejoie and Frederique Lagarde. In three movements: I. Theme and Variations (Andante), II. Air (Moderato), and III. Finale (Allegro). College level (but of average difficulty). 32.95

S669. Sonata for Baritone Saxophone and Piano Op. 105 by Trygve Madsen. Musikk-Huset Forlag A/S, 2000, SS, 29 + 11 pages. This piece is dedicated to Jean and Odile Ledieu. In three movements: I. Adagio, II. Allegretto, and III. Quasi Habenera. The first and third movements have a number of tempos. College level (but of average difficulty). 32.95

S668. Sonata for Soprano Saxophone and Piano Op. 107 by Trygve Madsen. Musikk-Huset Forlag A/S, 1998, SS, 28 + 10 pages. This piece is dedicated to Philippe Portejoie and Frederique Lagarde. In three movements: I. Allegro Moderato, II. Andante Cantabile, and III. Rondo: Allegro. The first and last movements have many tempo changes. College level (but of average difficulty). 32.95

S670. Sonata for Tenor Saxophone and Piano Op. 117 by Trygve Madsen. Musikk-Huset Forlag A/S, 2000, SS, 38 + 12 pages. This piece is dedicated to Philippe Portejoie and Frederique Lagarde. In three movements: I. Andante con moto, II. Vivace, III. Moderato. The first and last movements have many tempo changes. College level (but of average difficulty). 32.95

S822. A Ruckert Song Alto Saxophone and Piano by Gustav Mahler arranged by Fred Hemke. Southern Music Co., 1987, SS, 5 + 1 pages. This is from a song cycle of five Lieder for voice and orchestra or piano by Gustav Mahler, based on poems written by Friedrich Rückert. This is Ich bin der Welt abhanden gekommen (I am lost to the world). This is not a difficult piece (publishers US grade 3), but has some features that will be useful to the student as much of it is pianissimo and piano with only a few spots with brief swells in volume.  5.00

S863. Di Sudut Bibirmu for Saxophone Quintet (AATB) and Rhythm Section Maluku Traditional arranged by Frank Reinshagen. Advance Music, 2010, SS, includes parts and score. Translated as The Smile of Your Lips, this ancient Molukkan love song is presented here for saxophone quintet with a rhythm section of guitar, piano, bass and drums (the piano and guitar parts are mostly chords). Featuring lead alto in the solo role (with some improvisation over chord changes required), this Indonesian folk song makes a great change-of-pace programming choice..... 21.95

S412. L'Incandescence de la bruine for Soprano Saxophone and Piano by Bruno Mantovani. Editions Henry Lemoine, 2000, SS, 20 + 8 pages. Bruno Mantovani (1974-) is a French composer who won many first prizes at the Paris Conservatory. This is a challenging piece that employs a bit of contemporary notation, a few quarter tones, bisbigliando, and slap and flutter tonguing. 23.95

S887. Recitation Book for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by David Maslanka. Maslanka Press, 2006, SB/SS, (includes parts and score). The composer loves Italian madrigals and says this quartet feels something like a madrigal collection but with a grand finale. There are five pieces: (1) Broken Heart: Meditation on the chorale melody "Der du bist drei in einigkeit" (You who are three in one), (2) Prelude/Chorale: Meditation on the chorale melody "Jesu meine Freude" (Jesus my joy), (3) Ecco morio dunque (Look! My Death is Near!) by Gesualdo di Venosa, 1596, (4) Meditation on the Gregorian Chant "O Salutaris Hostia" (O Salvation's Victim), and (5) Fanfare/Variations on the chorale melody "Durch Adams Fall" (Through Adam's fall). Advanced college/professional level with a duration of about 24:30. There is some high altissimo in the soprano part. 54.95

S473. Sonata for Alto Saxophone and Piano by David Maslanka. Maslanka Press, 1989/2013, SS, 52 + 19 pages. This piece was commissioned by the North American Saxophone Alliance Commissioning Fund and Private Contributors for the 1989 NASA Young Artist Competition at the National Meeting and Navy Band Symposium. In three movements, a huge and extremely demanding piece; its musical roots are quite varied: Liszt, Gesualdo, Pettersson. Duration about 30 minutes. This piece is now being published by the composer's company instead of the North American Saxophone Alliance. 49.95

S886. Songs for the Coming Day for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) by David Maslanka. Maslanka Press, 2012, SS, (includes parts and score). Another substantial (duration of 47:30) quartet by Maslanka. The movements are: I. At This Time, II. Breathing, III. Awakening, IV. For the Dead, V. Letting Go of the Past, VI. The World is New, VII. When I cannot love I wait for morning, VIII. The soul is here for its own joy, and IX. Song for the Coming Day. The score includes a program note and notes on performance. While this is a college level work, only movement 8 is especially difficult. Range to altissimo A in the soprano part and A-flat in the alto part. ... 84.95

S885. Tone Studies for Alto Saxophone and Piano by David Maslanka. Maslanka Press, 2010, SB/SS, 25 + 10 pages. Commissioned by Joseph and Janet Luloff for their son Jordan. 1. "Jordan," 2. Credo in unum Deum; 3. Watch the Night With Me (Part 1); 4. Watch the Night With Me (Part 2); 5. Wie bist du, Seele; 6. Whale Story (O Sacred Head Now Wounded). Each study is a small and passionate essay - a "short story" without. Four of the movements are based on melodies by J.S. Bach. 29.95

S891. Pull for Alto Saxophone and Piano by James Matheson. Theodore Presser Co., Billaudot, 2012, SS, 15 + 5 pages. James Matheson (1970-) is an American composer. Composer James Matheson describes this light, hot, and virtuosic work as a brief but intense struggle between two groups of musical material, tugging at each other and vying for dominance as a push and pull of contrary yet complimentary forces. Pull was composed (in 1995 but published in 2012) for saxophonist Samuel Lorber and features a solo part that soars and glitters. Sectional: Forcefully, Allegro, and Subito Tempo I. This is an advanced work with mixed (and odd) meter. The duration is about 6 minutes. 12.95

S745. Au bonheur des dames for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Jean Matitia. Billaudot, 2003, SS, 16 + 6 pages. Jean Matitia is actually French composer Christian Lauba (1952-), a leading composer of contemporary music for saxophone. Not certain of the story behind this piece. Au bonheur des dames is a French film from 1930. The composer wrote music for nine musicians related to the film (to accompany it or inspired by it?) and this is an arrangement for alto saxophone and piano created for Arno Bornkamp. It is in the style of Rudy Wiedoeft. The publisher lists it as a 3 on their 5 point scale but it looks more difficult than that with altissimo to G sharp. Duration about 10 minutes. 17.95

S744. The Devil's Rag for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Jean Matitia. Billaudot, 1997, SS, 12 + 4 pages. While this piece follows the traditional rag format it is marked Tres vif, which is faster than usual. Range to altissimo F sharp. 17.95

S952. Tango Suave for Cello or Alto Saxophone and Piano by Jean Matitia. Billaudot, 2012, SS, 15 + 5 pages. Includes both cello and saxophone parts. Most of this work should not be a problem for a college level player, however there is a section of about 25 measures with odd meters such as 10/16, 9/16, 7/16, etc. It has a small amount flutter tonguing. Duration is 7:40. 22.95

S937. In Steel for Alto Saxophone and Percussion by Robert McClure. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, SS, 16 pages (score) + 7 pages (alto saxophone) + 9 pages (percussion). A rhythmically-advanced new duo for alto saxophone and percussion. Commissioned by Becky Morris and Joshua Priest, in Steel presents a great opportunity in an evolving medium. One percussionist is required to perform on vibraphone as well as a multi-percussion set of bass drum, wood block, splash cymbal, nipple gong, triangle and crotales. Performance time is about 10 minutes 31.95

S909. For Hope for Baritone Saxophone and Piano by Catherine McMichael. Alry Publications, 2012, SS, 14 + 5 pages. The piece is in one movement, divided into three main sections: driving and aggressive in a minor tonality with changing meters, then melodic and soaring in a sweeping 6/4 meter, and a return to the fast first themes, with emphasis on major tonality. The pulse in the outer sections is strong and focused, while the rhythmic writing in the middle section is intended to convey a sense of improvisation and freedom. A welcome addition to the baritone saxophone repertoire. 16.95

S985. Patapan for Saxophone Quartet (SATB) arranged by Bill Perconti. Advance Music, 2008, (includes score and parts). Patapan is a

French Noel attributed to Bernard de la Monnoye who lived from 1641-1728. The title of this French carol refers to the beating of a drum, while the lyrics mention pipes, fifes and flute. As with many Christmas tunes, it reflects the joyous union of Christmas music with dance. The melody here also incorporates a lyrical folk song used by Tchaikovsky in his 1812 Overture. This arrangement by Bill Perconti for saxophone quartet, rather than favoring a soprano solo with accompaniment, strives to include all the players in the music making by distributing the melodic material. Intermediate level. 15.95

S932. Tres Preludios a un Bandoneón for Alto Saxophone by Martín Proscia. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, 6 double size pages. Martín Proscia is an Argentinean composer born in 1983. The bandoneón is a type of concertina which is an essential instrument in most tango ensembles. This series of pieces is an attempt to take a look at the bandoneón (its breathing, its voice, maybe its aura too...) through the saxophone. The first piece is essentially focused on the bandoneón "gestuality", starting with rhythmic, melodic and discursive projections based on its traditional musical materials. The second piece deepens the work on the harmonies derived from the saxophone's multiphonics and its relationship with the bandoneón's tango chords. The third piece continues with the development of the previous pieces related to multiphonic tones but it places special emphasis on melodic development. Multiphonic fingerings are included as well as explanations in English and Spanish of the contemporary notation. An advanced work. 26.95

Armand Russell (1932-) earned a DMA at Eastman, played the double bass in a variety of settings, and taught music theory and composition at the University of Hawaii from 1961-1994. This is a contemporary piece suitable for advance high school or early college students. Challenging aspects are rhythms, dynamics, angular melodies, and range (one altissimo G, that could probably be played down an octave). It is in five movements: 1. Allegro (mm = ca. 120), 2. Lento, 3. Allegro moderato and barbaro (mm = ca. 100), 4. Andante, and 5. Allegro (in 6/8, dotted-quarter note = ca. 84). Duration about 7:15.  6.75

S926. Sonata Op. 166 for Soprano Saxophone and Piano by Camille Saint-Saëns arranged by Jeffrey E. Vickers. Resolute Music Publications, 2012, SS, 20 + 7 pages. This is the oboe sonata, one of Saint-Saëns last works. The saxophone part has been transposed so it sounds in the original concert key. It is in three movements: Andantino, Allegretto, and Molto allegro. The range extends to altissimo A on a single note, which is optional as it is in the original. 23.50

S828. Variations on Taki's "Kojo No Tsuki" for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Takefusa Sasamori. Peer Music, 1963, SS, 7 + 3 pages. Takefusa Sasamori (1928-) is Japanese composer and music educator who studied in Japan and the United States. In 1961, while studying under Henry Cowell at the Manhattan Conservatory, Sasamori was decided to compose this piece for Sigurd Rascher and his skill in the altissimo. The resulting work is a set of Variations on a popular Japanese folksong composed in 1901 by pianist and songwriter Rentaro Taki. "Kojo No Tsuki" which means "Moon over the Ruins of a Castle." Sasamori sets Taki's characteristically Japanese melody in a Western compositional style through an exploration of polyphony and chromaticism. Contrary to traditional form, the theme appears climactically after the third (of five) variations in the altissimo range of the saxophone. The theme which is slow and could probably be played down an octave is the only section with altissimo above F-sharp.  14.50

S102. Cafe Music for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Eric Satie arranged by James Boatman. Alry Publications, 1998, SS, 9 + 4 pages. Three pieces "La Diva de l'Empire," "Je te veux," and "Le Piccadilly." Generally at an intermediate level, with the four and five sharps in the first piece increasing the difficulty.  18.95

S232. Fantaisie sur des motif du Freischütz by Weber for Alto Saxophone and Piano by Jérôme Savari edited by Bruce Ronkin. Roncorp, 1991, SS, 12 + 4 pages. Somewhat longer than many of the pieces in this series, this was originally published in 1855. Early college level.  16.00

S821. Allegro Spiritoso for Baritone Saxophone and Piano by Jean Baptiste Senaille arranged by Harry Gee. Southern Music Co., 1941, SS, 6 + 2 pages. Jean Baptiste Senaillé (1687-1730) was a French Baroque composer and violin virtuoso. This piece has been transcribed for a number of instruments from one of his many violin sonatas. It begins with a brief Adagio non troppo section. This is followed by the rest of the piece which is marked Allegro spiritoso with the suggested tempo of quarter note = 120. The publisher has this graded as a (US) 4. Suggested for better high school saxophonists.  7.95

S554. Lacrimosa for alto saxophone and piano by Marilyn Shrude. C.F. Peters, 2007, SS, 13 + 6 pages. This advanced contemporary piece was commissioned by Sigma Alpha International Music Fraternity and premiered by saxophonist John Sampen and the composer in 2006. The composition was written in memory of music students from Bowling Green State University and Indiana University who were killed in a plane crash in 2006. The title, 'Lacrimosa,' is Latin for tears and weeping. It reflects the many moods that such an event might evoke. This 10 minute piece uses extended techniques including flutter tonguing, fractional pitches, and multiphonics (fingerings given). 22.95

S411. Renewing the Myth for alto saxophone and piano by Marilyn Shrude, saxophone part edited by John Sampen. Henry Lemoine, 1998, SS, 18 + 7 pages. This piece was written for John Sampen in 1988. It exploits both the theme and the legend of Paganini's 24th Caprice for violin. Germinal motives from the Caprice are introduced in both the saxophone and piano and become increasingly complex in a mildly atonal framework. The cadenza incorporates not only the Paganini, but fragments of famous saxophone literature. As the piece unfolds, the increasing technical difficulty recalls the myth - that Paganini sold his soul for his virtuosity. A required work for the International Adolphe Sax Competition in 2002. 21.95

S431. 80 Graded Studies for Saxophone Book 1 selected and edited by John Davies & Paul Harris. Faber Music, 1988, SS, 22 pages. This book has studies 1-46 which range from absolute beginner to intermediate. (Note that there aren't any grades assigned to these, the title apparently referring the careful arrangement by progressive difficulty.) The studies are drawn from works by Baermann, Brod, Demnitz, Fetzen, Freillon-Poncein, Garnier, Hinke, Klose, Langey, Lazarus, Prelleur, Stark, Wiedemann and has several original etudes by Harris. Includes a glossary of terms. 12.95

S432. 80 Graded Studies for Saxophone Book 2 selected and edited by John Davies & Paul Harris. Faber Music, 1990, SS, 32 pages. This book has studies 47-80 which range from the intermediate level to the advanced intermediate (with a few beyond). The studies are from the works of Arban, Baermann, Blatt, Brod, Demnitz, Ferling, Garnier, Hinke, Langey, Luft, Stark, and Vithum along with some original etudes by Harris. Includes a glossary of terms. 12.95

S039. 158 Saxophone Exercises by Sigurd M. Rascher. Wilhelm Hansen, second edition 1968, SS, 61 pages. This extensive series of exercises is based on chords. Some fingering suggestions are provided and the text is in English and German. 14.95

S064. Amazing Studies Saxophone by Howard Harrison. Boosey & Hawkes, 1997, SS, 62 pages. Howard Harrison has collected and arranged 76 pieces for unaccompanied saxophone. They include material drawn from both classical and folk music, with many dances included. Each piece was selected to develop a specific aspect of technique. There is an index to help you find the right study for each technical problem. This book is at the intermediate level. 24.95

G61. Complete Method for Rhythmical Articulation by Pasquale Bona translated from the fourth Italian edition by Gustav Saenger. Carl Fischer, SS, 72 pages. This is the treble clef edition. This book is in three parts with the first two intended for vocalists and all three parts for instrumentalists. The exercises and etudes (120 in all) focus on rhythm (not articulation) are progressively more difficult. Some of the exercises have a few notes below the range of the flute, oboe, and saxophone. 11.95

S027. Contemporary Chordal Sequences for Saxophone - 144 Technical Studies by Kalmen Opperman. Carl Fischer, SS, 48 pages. Contemporary composers are writing more technical, exotic lines for the saxophone. The exercises in this book are intended to support and extend the technical expertise of students and professionals required to perform this modern music. 12.95

G68. Contemporary Rhythm & Meter Duets for Treble Clef Instruments by Elliot Del Borgo. Meredith Music Publications, 1996, SS, 31 pages. Based on the concept of Contemporary Rhythm & Meter Studies, these fourteen, two-page duets make extensive use of metric and rhythmic devices, and harmonic and tonal devices commonly found in 20th Century works. They are ideal for any instrument for developing sight-reading skills as well as recital performance, jury exams, and lesson material. 9.95

G66. Contemporary Rhythm & Meter Studies for Treble Clef Instruments by Elliot Del Borgo. Meredith Music Publications, 1996, SS, 31 pages. These 28 etudes make extensive use of metric and rhythmic devices found in 20th century works. Composed as recital/performance pieces, all melodic material is derived from a variety of contemporary patterns including synthetic scales, 12-tone and 7-tone rows, cell-derived patterns, modal scales and traditional major and minor tonalities. 9.95

S083. Daily Exercises (Exercices Journaliers) for All Saxophones after Terschak by Marcel Mule. Alphonse Leduc, 1944, SS, 37 pages. Twenty-six technical exercises based on the works of flutist Adolf Terschak for better intermediate and for advanced students. Keys range from 7 sharps to 5 flats. 36.25

S023. Daily Studies for All Saxophones by Trent Kynaston. Alfred Publications, SS, 48 pages. This book includes scales (major, harmonic minor, melodic minor, whole tone, diminished, and chromatic), Arpeggios (13 types), three articulation etudes, and 10 tuning etudes (designed to aid in conditioning students to play in tune). 14.95

S018. Daily Studies for the Improvement of the Saxophone Technique by Larry Teal. Etoile Music/Keiser Classical, 1972, printing of 2009, SS, 40 pages. A useful volume of studies. Included are exercises covering scales, arpeggios, intervals, staccato, chord progressions, trills, alternate fingerings and more. 19.95

S248. On the Exactness of Intonation (De la Justesse d'Intonation) for all Saxophones Jean-Marie Londeix. Alphonse Leduc, 1981, SS, 24 pages. A series of exercises for developing precise intonation. It is in two sections, first for two saxophones in the same key followed by the same exercises for a B-flat and E-flat saxophone playing together. The exercises are on octaves, fifths, fourths, major thirds, and minor thirds. 35.55

S032. Foundation Studies for Saxophone by David Hite. Southern Music Co., 1992, SS, 64 pages. This book is based on the Baermann Book 3 studies (for clarinet) of scales, chords and intervals that have been adapted for the saxophone and further extended by the editor. 12.95

S344. Grands Exercices Journaliers de Mécanisme by Paul Taffanel and Philippe Gaubert adapted for saxophone by Frédéric Juranville. Leduc, 1992, SS, 49 pages. This is the famous T&G exercises for flute adapted for saxophone. The English title is Big Daily Finger Exercises although the flute version is often called 17 Daily Exercises for the Flute. 25.70

S249. Intonation Exercises (Exercices d'intonation) by Jean-Marie Londeix. Alphonse Leduc, 1994, SS, 28 pages. This series of exercises to improve intonation are to be played with another instrument sounding the fundamental note. Londeix recommends an organ and a cheap electronic one will be just fine. These exercises can be used with both E-flat and B-flat saxophones. A chart is also included for corrective fingerings to sharpen or flatten a note. Instructions are in French, English, and German. 34.85

S123. Mechanical Exercises (Exercices Mécaniques) Vol. 1 by Jean-Marie Londeix. Henry Lemoine, 1961, SS, 24 pages. This book has 32 exercises and instructions and explanations in French and English. These exercises are all between two notes (basic interval exercises). This volume also includes the key to fingering notations in Londeix's book from this publisher. 21.95

S124. Mechanical Exercises (Exercices Mécaniques) Vol. 2 by Jean-Marie Londeix. Henry Lemoine, 1961, SS, 19 pages. These exercises, which are in four note groups, are more advanced than the first volume. 17.95

S125. Mechanical Exercises (Exercices Mécaniques) Vol. 3 by Jean-Marie Londeix. Henry Lemoine, 1961, SS, 9 pages. More exercises in the same style as volume 2. 16.95

S368. Melodic Etudes by Ted Hegvik. Northeastern Music Publications, 2007, SS, 36 pages. Subtitled: A Lyric Approach to the Saxophone. It contains a series of short progressive studies for the development of tone, style, and basic saxophone idioms. It is a supplemental book for use with any of the standard methods from the very beginning to the early intermediate level. Includes a four page history of Adophe Sax and his times. 12.95

S092. Melodious and Progressive Studies for Saxophone Book 1 edited by David Hite. Southern Music Co., 1988, SS, 64 pages. Includes Demnitz: 36 Expressive Studies, Nocentini: 9 Melodic Studies, Baermann: 14 Melodic Etudes, Kayser: 5 Progressive Studies, and major and minor scales. 14.95

S093. Melodious and Progressive Studies for Saxophone Book 2 edited by David Hite. Southern Music Co., 1991, SS, 63 pages. Includes Gambaro: 16 Caprices, Dont: 14 Etudes from Op. 37, and 24 special studies from Berr, Ferling, Lazarus, Ries, Spohr, Kreutzer, etc. 13.95

S094. Melodious Etudes for Saxophone compiled and edited by Larry Clark and Sean O'Loughlin. Carl Fischer, 2003, SS, 80 pages. These 54 etudes are a bit different from the familiar since they are based on vocalises of Marco Bordogni (1788-1856). The etudes are in a variety of keys and difficulty levels from perhaps mid-second year through fourth year of study. There are some pieces in keys with up to five flats or sharps that should prove useful to third year students. 12.95

WW154. Method for Oboe or Saxophone (2nd Part: Progressive Studies) by Joseph Sellner edited by L. Bleuzet. Billaudot, SS, 60 pages. The book contains a large number of short (1 to 3 lines) exercises in keys to four sharps and four flats. Lots of material to practice. 34.95

S084. New Varied Studies in All Keys by Jean-Marie Londeix. Alphonse Leduc, 1986, SS, 27 pages. Twenty-five etudes from Blumenstengel, Dont, Gaviniès, Kreutzer, Paganini, and Rose with "extreme" high notes. An opportunity for better intermediate and advanced students to practice the altissimo register. 31.80

S205. Neuf Études Transcendantes (Nine Transcending Etudes) by Noël Samyn. Billaudot, 1977, SS, 19 pages. This is a title that does not translate into English in any meaningful way. These are advanced studies designed to incorporate the high altissimo into the repertoire of the performer. These are not altissimo exercises, however, but studies that use the entire range of the instrument. Some fingering suggestions. 15.95

Ob109. Oboe Scales for Reading by Christopher Weait. Christopher Weait, 2006, SB, 79 pages. These scale and arpeggio patterns divided into lower and upper registers and progress through 15 keys, including the enharmonic keys. Accidentals are used for each key rather than key signatures. Scales included are: majors with tonic arpeggios, harmonic minors with minor arpeggios, melodic minors with tonic seventh arpeggios, chromatics, whole tones with augmented arpeggios, octatonics (diminished scales) with diminished seventh arpeggios, pentatonic and blues scales. This book will be valuable to saxophonists as well. 23.95

S038. Parès Daily Exercises and Scales for Saxophone by Gabriel Parès revised by E. Claus. Carl Fischer, 1912, SS, 36 pages. A basic book of scales and scale based exercises through 4 flats and 4 sharps. It also includes chromatic scales and a few other exercises. 8.95

S033. Progressive and Varied Etudes by Harry Gee. Southern Music Co., 1992, SS, 64 pages. The book includes study of the embouchure, vibrato, and altissimo (alto saxophone). It includes etudes by Barret, Bach, Ferling, Koehler, and more. It also includes three duets for like saxophones and two duets for alto and tenor saxophones. 14.95

G156. Rhythmic Training by Robert Starer. Hal Leonard, 1969, PB, 84 pages. This is an excellent text which gets into the more difficult areas quickly. It contains a series of exercises for all instruments. The areas covered include rhythmic organization (everything from 2 through 8 equal parts plus 12, 16 and more), changing meters, changing the rate of pulse, and polyrhythms. 9.95

G210. Rhythms Complete Treble Clef by Charles Colin and Bugs Bower. Charles Colin Music, 1988, SS, 48 pages. "The most widely used primer in the world for teaching rhythm, syncopation and phrasing [for jazz], employing a very melodic format of 82 exercises in rhythmic structures and combinations of rhythms. While written especially for the [jazz] beginner/intermediate levels, it is used by advanced players (of all instruments) as a daily practice book to maintain facility." 9.95

S588. Salviani - Iasilli Exercises in All the Practical Keys for the Saxophone. Carl Fischer, 1940, SS, 78 pages. This book has the 16 Salviani-Iasilli exercises in all each of the major keys from four flats and four sharps. 15.95

S021. Sax Scales by Stuart Brotzman. Mel Bay, 1998, SS, 63 pages. The purpose of this book is to teach students to play scales and arpeggios in all major and minor keys over the full range of the instrument. It includes exercises to build proficiency. 12.95

S121. Saxophone Altissimo: High Note Development for the Contemporary Player by Robert A. Luckey. Olympia Music Publishing, 1998 (Second Edition), SB, 207 pages. This book features over 300 high note fingerings for the soprano, alto, tenor, and baritone saxophones. It includes excerpts from selected classical alto saxophone solos with recommended fingerings for altissimo tones, as well as overtone exercises and extended range exercises. There are also challenging jazz etudes incorporating the altissimo register that can be performed with Jamey Aebersold's Play-Along, Volume 43, Groovin' High. 19.95

S605. Saxophone Sight-Reading 1 by John Kember and Graeme Vinal. Schott, 2007, SS, 100 pages. This is not, in my opinion, a book for sight reading but a series 150 supplementary studies from the very beginning to the intermediate level. It moves quite slowly adding notes, keys, and rhythms progressively. This book includes short solos, duets and pieces with piano accompaniment (for both E-flat and B-flat saxophones). Swing style is also introduced in the latter part of the book. This will be a valuable supplement for traditional methods. 14.95

S382. The Saxophonist's Manual by Larry Teal. Encore Publications, 1978, SS, 40 pages. Subtitled "A Handbook of Basic Concepts," this book is intended to be used in conjunction with beginning methods to help students in certain fundamental practices not usually included in those methods. It should precede the Saxophonist's Workbook (below). It covers posture, hand and finger position, embouchure, breathing, intonation and ear training, vibrato, articulation, tonal shaping, scales, chords, arpeggios, and more. The size and format of this book make it more suitable for use in lessons than the author's The Art of Saxophone Playing which has more detailed coverage of these concepts. 11.95

S376. The Saxophonist's Workbook by Larry Teal. Encore Publications, 1976, SS, 44 pages, revised edition. This is a very popular book especially at the early college level. The first subject is tone development with descriptive text and exercises, then dynamic control, vibrato and intonation, followed by staccato and other articulation studies, alternate fingerings, and finally technical studies on scales and arpeggios. 13.95

S019. Saxophone High Tones by Eugene Rousseau. MMB Music Inc., 1978, 2002, SS, 81 pages, second edition. The ability to exhibit fluency in playing above the saxophone's normal range is no longer a frill or an option; it is a necessity. This book provides the tool to develop and extended range on the soprano, alto, tenor and baritone saxophone. It includes a fingering chart for the normal range and the high tones, exercises that teach the techniques required for high tone production, and exercises to practice these techniques. 29.95

S804. The Saxophone Intonation Workbook by Trent Kynaston. Advance Music, 2006, SS, 54 pages + CD. This book is a thorough, organized approach to saxophone intonation. Basic concepts of embouchure and breathing, understanding the role of your equipment, and developing voicing techniques are all explored. Included are scale and arpeggio studies along with a CD to practice tuning on the alto and tenor saxophones. This is a must for all developing saxophonists. 23.95

S113. Scales and Arpeggios, Fundamental Exercises for the Saxophone Book 1 by Marcel Mule. Alphonse Leduc, SS, 1948, 30 pages. This book includes scales, scales in thirds, arpeggios, arpeggios on the dominant seventh chord in all major and minor keys. Instructions are in French, English, German, Spanish, and Japanese. 36.25

S114. Scales and Arpeggios, Fundamental Exercises for the Saxophone Book 2 by Marcel Mule. Alphonse Leduc, SS, 1946, 36 pages. This book provides more extended exercises on the same material as book 1. Instructions (in the same languages as above) are given at the beginning of the book and then the exercises are presented in an abbreviated form. Major and minor keys through four flats and sharps. 35.55

S115. Scales and Arpeggios, Fundamental Exercises for the Saxophone Book 3 by Marcel Mule. Alphonse Leduc, SS, 1946, 36 pages. This book begins with a continuation of the exercises from Book 2 in the remaining keys. They are followed by exercises on chromatic scales, whole tone scales, and augmented fifths. 49.20

S142. The Scales by Steps and by Intervals (Les Gammes Conjointes et en Intervalles) by Jean-Marie Londeix. Henry Lemoine, 1962, SS, 33 pages. Scales and interval exercises (seconds through octaves) in all major and minor keys. Practice instructions and a few suggested fingerings are given. 21.95

G109. Scales for Jazz Improvisation by Don Haerle. Alfred, 1975, SB, 52 pages. Haerle presents the scales used in improvisation and explains applications. Scales are shown in all keys and treble and bass clefs include blues, Ionian, Dorian, Phrygian, Locrian as well as whole tone, chromatic, augmented and many more. This is also a great aid for memorizing. .. 16.95

S029. Scales for the Saxophone by Sigurd M. Raschèr. McGinnis & Marx, 1965, SS, 25 pages. A very useful book of scales and scale based exercises. A highlight of this book is the presentation of scales in a variety of rhythms. Some suggested fingerings are given. 7.95

S065. Selected Studies for Saxophone by Himie Voxman. Rubank, 1942, SS, 76 pages. Intermediate-advanced level etudes drawn from many composers in all major and minor keys, plus scales, scales in thirds, and arpeggios. 6.95

S126. Staccato (Le Detache) by Jean-Marie Londeix. Henry Lemoine, 1967, SS, 18 pages. Exercises to help improve the quality and speed of staccato. They will also gradually help increase the instruments compass through training in the altissimo. Includes some suggested fingerings. 18.95

S706. 7 Pieces Op. 180 for Saxophone and Piano by Charles Koechlin edited by Federico Mondelci. Billaudot, 2006, SS, 33 + 13 pages. Charles Koechlin (1867-1950) was a French composer. While he wrote in many styles, much of his music was influenced by Fauré who was one of his teachers. This work was originally for horn and piano but has been transcribed for saxophone. The first and sixth pieces are for alto sax and the rest are for tenor. 1. Andante presque adagio, 2. Piece No. 5 (Adagio), 3. Piece No. 7 (Andante), 4. Piece No. 4 (Andante), 5. Piece No. 12 (Adagio), 6. Piece No. 14 (Andante con moto), and 7. Piece no. 15 (Presque Adagio). Generally these are at the intermediate level although number 3 is in the key of F sharp and an altissimo F sharp was noted in number 7. Total duration is 27 minutes. 41.95

WW276: Épitaphe de Jean Harlow Op. 164 Romance for Flute, Alto Saxophone and Piano (or Harp) by Charles Koechlin. Eschig, 1970, SS. Includes parts and piano score. Koechlin was fascinated by the movies this is one of many pieces he composed that is film related. In one movement marked Andantino, sans tréner. Duration about 3:00. 31.95

S188. Studies for Alto Saxophone and Piano (Études pour saxophone alto et piano) Op. 188 by Charles Koechlin. Billaudot, 1970, SS, 60 + 27 pages. Few sets of etudes have piano accompaniment and fewer still have been recorded. These were written by French composer Charles Koechlin (1867-1950) in the the period 1942-44 with each piece dedicated to a specific technique or sound. Included in the fifteen etudes are both intermediate and advanced pieces. 34.95

S383. Studies in Time Division by Larry Teal. Encore Publications, 1955, SS, 24 pages. Subtitled "A Practical Approach to Accurate Rhythm Perception Concepts." These studies are aimed at developing an accurate rhythmic sense built up from the sixteenth-note time value. They can be used for both private and classroom study and for any instrument. These exercises start with basic rhythms and conclude with those that might be found in upper intermediate level music. 9.95

G75. Stylistic Etudes in the Jazz Idiom compiled by Lou Fischer. Houston Publishing, 1995, SB, 145 pages. Originally intended for All State audition material, the etudes in this book have proven themselves ideal for sight reading auditions, recital performance, individual practice and stylistic development. There are 15 etudes for each instrument (sax, trumpet, trombone, bass trombone, piano, guitar, guitar, bass, and drum). There are five etudes each in the styles of swing, ballad, and Latin/Funk. The saxophone etudes are by Gunnar Mossblad. 27.95

S024. Technique of the Saxophone Vol. 1, Scale Studies by Joseph Viola. Berklee Press, PB, 168 pages. These studies are intended to build a solid base of technique and aid in mastering intonation. This book consists of tonal and polytonal variations in major scales, diads, triads, tetrads, pentads, hexads, and septads. 19.95

S025. Technique of the Saxophone Vol. 2, Chord Studies by Joseph Viola. Berklee Press, PB, 162 pages. This book focuses on chord studies in 15 keys, summary studies, and studies on chord sequences. 19.95

S048. Technique of the Saxophone Vol. 3, Rhythm Studies by Joseph Viola. Berklee Press, PB, 123 pages. This book features syncopated rhythms and unconventional rhythmic notation to challenge the strongest of readers, double-time exercises in a variety of meters, and 15 etudes incorporating all of the rhythmic concepts presented. 19.95

S028. Top-Tones for the Saxophone by Sigurd M. Raschèr. Carl Fischer, SS, 31 pages. Third Edition. This book is the key to mastering the extended upper range of the saxophone. It includes exercises to develop the technique necessary to produce the overtones necessary and fingerings for the tones above top F. Applicable to all saxophones. This book also includes the text in German. 13.95

Reed Books

C017. Clarinet and Saxophone Reed Adjustments by Vito Platamone Jr. SS, 15 pages. The author studied with Robert Marcellus and Anthony Gigliotti was the Principal Clarinet of the New Orleans. Don't let the slim size of this book fool you. It is a straightforward, well illustrated guide to finding and adjusting clarinet and saxophone reeds. Free shipping if ordered with another item.

C066. Handbook for Making and Adjusting Single Reeds by Kalmen Opperman, M. Baron Company, Inc., SS, 44 pages. This long awaited book is now back in print. It is intended for those who wish to make reeds or work on commercial reeds for all clarinets and saxophones. Subjects covered are the handmade reed, the commercial reed, cane, the model reed, tools, making the shaped blank from tube cane, cutting the vamp, finishing the reed, adjusting and retouching reeds and the life of the reed.

C038. Perfect A Reed . . . and Beyond by Ben Armato. Reed Wizard, SS, 43 pages. While the author sells several mechanical devices for working on reeds, this is a comprehensive book on reeds with only a brief mention of his products. A few of the many topics covered are: reed myths, arundo donax vicissitudes, reed adjustment, reed nomenclature, reed preparation, reed warpage, etc.

19.95

S137. The Saxophone Reed, The Advanced Art of Adjusting Single Reeds by Ray Reed. Infinity Publishing, 2004, PB, 215 pages. Los Angeles based saxophonists, Ray Reed, who has played with everyone from Stan Kenton, to Supersax, to Frank Zappa has written the longest and most detailed book on making and adjusting reeds we have ever seen. It covers nearly every conceivable topic in the single reed making universe. While this book is aimed at saxophonists, and includes many appropriate measurements, clarinetists will find much of value here as well.

C041. Selection, Adjustment, and Care of Single Reeds by Larry Guy. Rivernote Press, SB, 57 pages. A practical and well-illustrated guide to clarinet and saxophone reeds. This book presents detailed instructions for selecting and adjusting reeds in an easily understood manner. It also includes a guide to the selection, care and use of reed tools (knives, sharpening stones, sandpaper, reed rush, etc.).

WW007. Clarinet, Saxophone, & Flute Repair Manual - Step by Step Easy Directions for Overhauling Your Instrument by Lawrence Frank, Frank Woodwind Repair, SB, 76 pages. This book was written because of the author's dissatisfaction with other repair manuals. It is intended for clarinet, saxophone, and flute players from high school through professionals who want to work on their own instruments. It is also recommended for band directors who need to do emergency repairs.

WW002. A Guide to Repairing Woodwinds by Ronald Saska. Roncorp, SB, 273 pages. This book was originally developed for a woodwind repair course. The book is intended for those who wish to learn professional repair techniques using professional equipment. The clarinet is the subject of the basic repair instruction. Additional information is provided for repairing oboes, flutes, bassoons, saxophones, and harmony clarinets.

39.95

G46. Instrument Repair for the Music Teacher by Burton Stanley. Alfred Publishing Co., 1978, PB, 154 pages. This book provides instructions for the most common repair procedures for woodwind and brass instruments. The primary focus is on clarinet, flute, piston valve brass, rotary valve brass, and trombone. Corking the saxophone neck is covered but not saxophone repadding.

S958. The Saxophone Handbook by Douglas D. Skinner. Berklee Press, 2013, PB, 90 pages. A complete guide to playing and maintenance, this handbook offers essential information on all dimensions of the saxophone. It provides an overview of technique, such as breathing, fingerings, articulations, and more. Exercises will help you develop your sense of timing, facility, and sound. Extensive directions (with illustrations) on repairs will help you maintain your instrument and customize it to support your own playing style and preferences. You'll learn to fine-tune your reed, recork the keys, fix binding keys, replace pads, and many other repairs and adjustments. You'll also learn to improve your tone, intonation, and flexibility while playing with proper technique. While saxophone repair is only one of five chapters in this book, it does an excellent job of covering basic repairs and adjustments.

Woodwind Books

WW001. Acoustical Aspects of Woodwind Instruments, Revised Edition by C. J. Nederveen. Northern Illinois University Press, 1998, PB, 160 pages. A detailed mathematical study of the subject. Contents: the excitation mechanism of woodwinds, holes and bore perturbations, examples, and an addendum of developments since 1969 first edition.

WW033. The Development of Woodwind Fingering Systems in the Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries by Jerry L. Voorhees. Voorhees Publishing Co., 2000, PB, 230 pages. Truly a labor of love, this book's purpose is to describe, illustrate and classify as many fingering systems as possible dating from about 1831 to the present. The book considers in detail, both the similarities and differences in development of each instrument through this time period. This is followed by extensive diagrams of the mechanisms of many instruments from each of the woodwind families.

WW006. Woodwind Instruments and Their History by Anthony C. Baines. Dover, PB, 384 pages. The definitive book on woodwind history, fully illustrated. The book consists of Part One, The Woodwind Today, includes a general introduction, the flute, piccolo, reeds and reed-making, the oboe, the clarinet, and the bassoon. Part Two, History, has chapters on The Primitive Flute World, Early Reed Instruments and Double-piping, Medieval Wind Music, The Sixteenth Century and the Consorts, The Eighteenth Century and the Classical Woodwind, and Mechanization.

WW242. Wind Talk for Woodwinds by Mark C. Ely and Amy E. Van Deuren. Oxford University Press, 2009, PB, 751 pages. This book provides instrumental music teachers, practitioners, and students with a handy, easy-to-use pedagogical resource for woodwind instruments. With thorough coverage of the most common woodwind instruments - flute, oboe, clarinet, saxophone, and bassoon (100+ pages each) - the book offers the most topical and information necessary for effective teaching. This includes terminology, topics, and concepts associated with each specific instrument, along with teaching suggestions that can be applied in the classroom. It also includes a "Practical Tips" section, which discusses common technical faults and corrections, common problems with sound (as well as their causes and solutions to them), as well as fingering charts, literature lists (study materials, method books, and solos), as well as a list of additional resources. An impressive book which considering it is published by Oxford has a "modest" price.

This book gives the English equivalents of 3,000 musical terms primarily from French, German, Italian, and Spanish. They were collected from more than 30,000 scores. A guide to French, German, and Italian pronunciation is also included.

G207. An Annotated Guide to Wind Chamber Music for Six to Eighteen Players by Rodney Winther. Warner Bros Publications (Alfred), 2004, PB, 448 pages. This thick book has a great deal of information, which is enhanced by the paragraph or more of description of each of the more than 500 compositions. It is organized by the number of players and within each sized ensemble by instrumentation. It also includes wind music with soloist(s) and with voices. Helpful indexes will assist the reader.

39.95

G42: Arnold Jacobs: Song and Wind by Brian Frederiksen, edited by John Taylor. WindSong Press, 1996, HB, 276 pages. With a career spanning seven decades Arnold Jacobs earned a reputation as a world-class performer. Equally significant are his teachings, especially on breathing. This book was written by Mr. Jacobs' assistant, Brian Frederiksen and draws on material from masterclasses, private interviews, previously published writings and contributions from his students and colleagues.

G84: The Art of Breathing by Nancy Zi. Frog Ltd and Vivi Company, Revised 4th Edition, 2000, PB, 240 pages. This book contains 6 simple lessons and easy-to-learn exercises, imagery drills and practical applications that will change the way you breathe. Nancy Zi's unique method of abdominal deep breathing shows you how to use more lung capacity to reduce tension, promote relaxation, and enhance your practice and performance.

G32. The Art of Wind Playing by Arthur Weisberg. Meredith Music, 1975/2007, PB, 145 pages. The author, who was a renowned bassoonist, has written this book because of his concern that winds lack the traditions and the consistent pedagogy of string and keyboard instruments. Topics include dynamics, intonation, articulation, vibrato, technique, breathing, musicianship, and interpretation. An essential reference for all wind musicians.

G22. The Athletic Musician, A Guide to Playing without Pain by Barbara Paull and Christine Harrison. Scarecrow Press, 1997, PB, 175 pages. An excellent book for all instrumental musicians co-written by a physiotherapist and a violinist. It includes detailed but easy to understand guidance on both what to do and what not to do. Main sections cover the problem of musician's injuries, anatomy and applied anatomy for musicians, and the musician as athlete.

44.95

G38. Audition Success by Don Greene. Routledge, 2001, PB, 168 pages. Turn good auditions into great ones with Audition Success. Master audition coach Don Greene, Ph.D. techniques teach you how to monitor and control fear, and put your nervous energy to work. The beginning performer will find here the tools to prepare for the audition circuit, and the experienced performer will appreciate techniques that can turn good auditions into great ones.

26.95

G131. Circular Breathing: a Method by Robert S. Spring. Windplayer Publications, 2006, SS, 31 pages. This book presents two alternative introductory methods of circular breathing. It also features exercises and advice from seven contributing experts for flute (Robert Dick), clarinet (Robert Spring), saxophone (Donald Lefevre), bassoon (Jeffrey Lyman), oboe (Martin Schuring), trumpet and low brass, including recommended repertoire for each.

12.95

G45. Circular Breathing for the Wind Performer by Trent P. Kynaston. Warner Bros. Publications, SS, 20 pages. This is a guide to learning circular breathing for all wind instrumentalists. The author discusses breathing and then provides instruction in beginning, intermediate and advanced techniques for circular breathing.

10.95

G23. Encyclopedia of Scales, Modes and Melodic Patterns for All Instruments by Arnie Berle. Mel Bay, 1997, SS, 96 pages. This book provides a comprehensive source for many types of scales. It also provides recommendations on how to practice scales and a practice routine.

17.95

G04. Fundamentals of Musical Acoustics by Arthur H. Benade. Dover, PB, 596 pages. The Second, Revised Edition originally published in 1976. This is a hefty book with enough detail for a physicist but still rewarding to the layman. It includes about 75 pages specifically devoted to woodwinds.

19.95

G112. Guide to Klezmer Arranging and Orchestration by Peter Sokolow. Tara Publications, 1991, SS, 41 pages. Included in this books are invaluable hints on setting up an arrangement, instrument combinations, phrasing, notation, vocal background writing, historical performance practices, and sound "basics" of klezmer theory and orchestral writing, compiled and annotated in an organized, concise way by an experienced klezmer veteran.

19.95

G70. A Guide to the Understanding and Correction of Intonation Problems by Al "Corky" Fabrizio. Meredith Music Publications, 1994, SS, 30 pages. This book could be titled: How to Tune the Wind Ensemble. It provides details such as pitch tendencies and tuning strategies for the principal wind ensemble instruments, a tuning method for the entire ensemble, and acoustical considerations by instrument of various chords (which could be turned into an exercise).

12.95

G09. The Harper Collins Dictionary of Music by Christine Ammer. HaperCollins, PB, 3rd edition, 512 pages. This completely revised and updated edition of the popular HarperCollins Dictionary of Music is a valuable reference tool for students, professionals, and music lovers alike. More than just a book of simple definitions, it provides in-depth explanations and examples of over 3,500 musical terms and includes over 250 illustrations to help clarify the entries.

17.95

G05. Horns, Strings, and Harmony by Arthur H. Benade. Dover, PB, 271 pages. An outstanding non-technical introduction to acoustics by Dr. Benade who was a physicist, flutist, and science educator. The book covers vibrating systems, the role of the human ear in hearing music, how pianos, violins, trumpets, oboes, clarinets, flutes, saxophones and many other instruments work. In addition, the author provides instructions for building a home made trumpet, clarinet, and flute.

G33. How to Learn the Alexander Technique by Barbara Conable. Andover Press, Third Edition, 1995, PB, 154 pages. A primer for students of the Alexander Technique, a well-known method for improving freedom and ease of movement and physical coordination. This book provides the first authoritative account of William Conable's concept, Body Mapping, the study of how our ideas about our bodies affect our experience and movement. Includes sections aimed at instrumentalists, vocalists, actors and dancers.

G56. How to Succeed in an Ensemble by Abram Loft. Amadeus Press, 2003, HB, 300 pages. The author was a member of the Fine Arts Quarter for 25 years and later chairman of the string department at the Eastman School of Music. This book is both a personal account of what life is really like in a chamber ensemble and advice on both the artistic and business aspects of creating and sustaining a successful chamber group.

24.95

G06. The Inner Game of Music by Barry Green and W. Timothy Gallwey. Doubleday, HB, 225 pages. The Inner Game of music is that which takes place in the mind, played against such elusive opponents as nervousness, self-doubt, and fear of failure. Using the same principles of "natural learning" Timothy Gallwey developed so successfully for tennis, golf and skiing and applying them to his own field, noted musician Barry Green shows how to acknowledge and overcome these internal obstacles in order to bring a new quality to the experience and learning of music. There are also chapters on ensemble playing, improvisation, composition and creativity, and listening skills - an essential part of the Inner Game - are discussed throughout.

23.95

G14. Introduction to the Musical Brain by Don G. Campbell. MMB Music, Inc. PB, 148 pages. This innovative best seller explores the functions, theories, and musical expressions of the brain in correlation with music education. Contains exercises and activities for both children and adults to activate right lobe (emotional) learning modes, and integrate those with the left lobe (logical).

16.95

G178. The Jazz Language: A Theory Text for Jazz Composition and Improvisation by Dan Haerle. Alfred Publishing Co., 1980, PB, 58 pages. This text presents all of the materials commonly used by the jazz musician in a logical order dictated both by complexity and need. Some of the material is more useful to the writer or arranger while other material may be more valuable for the improviser. The book is primarily focused on chords and scales, but also includes brief sections on harmonization and improvisation. The book is not intended to be either an arranging or improvisation text, but merely a reference providing the information musicians need to pursue any activity they wish.

G11. Lexicon of Musical Invective, Critical Assaults on Composers Since Beethoven's Time by Nicolas Slonimsky. Norton, PB, 325 pages. With a new forward by Peter Schickel. This legendary book is an anthology of critical assaults on well-known composers and their works. Here the reader will find biased, unfair, ill-tempered, and singularly unpropagandistic judgments by musicians and reviewers. An example: I am bound to say that dreary though most musical humour is, Strauss's is the dreariest that has ever bored me. I contemptuously dismiss Till Eulenspiegel as a pretentious piece of mart shoddy. (J.F. Runciman, Saturday Review, London, May 2, 1896)

14.95

G36. The Mastery of Music, Ten Pathways to True Artistry by Barry Green. Broadway Books, 2003, HB, 293 pages. Barry Green, bassist and co-author of The Inner Game of Music, turns his hand to the artistic pathways leading to extraordinary musicianship. Green shows how musical excellence, exhibited by the true virtuosos, requires a mastery of ten unique qualities of the soul and human spirit, such as confidence, passion, discipline, creativity, and relaxed concentration, and he discusses specific ways in which all musicians, composers, and conductors can take their skills to higher levels.

G20. Music, Physics and Engineering by Harry F. Olson. Dover, 1967, PB, 460 pages. A wide ranging book covering both the mechanical and electronic areas of sound production and reproduction. Topics covered include sound waves, musical terminology, resonators and radiators, musical instruments and their characteristics, properties of music, acoustics (theater, studio, and room), sound-reproducing systems, and electronic music. Many charts, diagrams and equations are included. While many aspects of this book are quite technical, most of the information will be comprehensible to all musicians.

16.95

G29. Musical Performance, A Guide to Understanding edited by John Rink. Cambridge University Press, 2002, PB, 245 pages. This book unravels the complexities of playing music and reveals aspects of learning, playing and responding to music relevant to performances of all levels. A survey of performance through the ages leads to a presentation of basic historical, analytical and psychological concepts. Four chapters follow on teaching, development, practice and memorization. The next section considers the "translation" from score to sound, physical projection, ensemble playing and performance anxiety. The final section addresses the act of listening, the legacy of recordings, music criticism and "performers on performance".

G39: The New Langwill Index, A Dictionary of Musical Wind-Instrument Makers and Inventors by William Waterhouse. Tony Bingham, 1993, HB, 555 pages. Based on the work of Lyndesay Graham Langwill, this book is an entirely new edition rather than a revision of his last work. The primary purpose of this volume is to assist in the identification, dating and evaluation of wind instruments. It also provides some information on the careers and achievements of makers and inventors. A first class book in every way.

124.95

G63. Note Grouping by James Morgan Thurmond. Meredith Music Publications, 1981, PB, 144 pages. Subtitled: A Method for Achieving Expression and Style in Musical Performance. Fully explains through musical example, the concept of expressive musicianship as taught by Anton Horner, William Kincaid and Marcel Tabuteau. This book clearly illustrates how to teach students to play or sing with expression, musicianship and style and will help to make your performances "come alive."

34.95

G021. On the Sensations of Tone by Hermann Helmholtz. Dover, 1954, PB, 576 pages. This is an unabridged reprinting of the 1885 of Die Lehre von den Tonempfindungen. It includes a new introduction written in 1954. On the Sensations of Tone is regarded as one of the world's greatest scientific classics. It bridges the gap between the natural sciences and music theory. The first two parts of the book deal with the physics and physiology of music. The last part contains the author's theory on the aesthetic relationship of musical tones.

22.95

G55. Performance Success by Don Greene. Routledge, 2002, PB, 151 pages. Performance anxiety is a fact of life for all musicians. You can deny the problems of stress in performance or you can face them, even learn to embrace them. Performance Success teaches a set of skills so that a musician can be ready to go out and sing or play at his or her highest level, working with energies that might otherwise be wasted in unproductive ways. This is a book of skills and exercises, prepared by a master teacher.

G31. Performing Twentieth-Century Music: A Handbook for Conductors and Instrumentalists by Arthur Weisberg. Yale University Press, 1993, PB, 142 pages. This concise, straightforward handbook by the renowned conductor and bassoonist Arthur Weisberg is the first practical manual to address the performance problems specific to twentieth-century music. The focus is on understanding and performing twentieth century rhythms, metric modulations, the basics on conducting these rhythms, and preparing the score.

G144. Practicing Successfully, A Masterclass in the Musical Art by Elizabeth A. H. Green. Gia Publications, 2006, HB, 147 pages. In Practicing Successfully, legendary music educator Elizabeth A. H. Green draws upon her decades of experience instructing students of all levels to break down the practicing regimen into a logical learning sequence (Part One). In Part Two, experts on various instruments discuss recurring problems and how to defeat them. In the concluding Part Three, Green notes the physiological principles pertaining to practice and suggests ways to modify practice sessions to reflect these facts.

G134. Psychology for Musicians by Andreas C. Lehmann, John A. Sloboda, and Robert H. Woody. Oxford University Press, 2007, HB, 268 pages. Subtitled: Understanding and Acquiring the Skills. Examining the processes that underlie the acquisition of musical skills, the authors provide a concise, accessible, and up-to-date introduction to psychological research for musicians. The book is divided into three sections: Musical Learning, Musical Skills, and Musical Roles.

29.95

G48. Science & Music by Sir James Jeans. Dover, 1968, PB, 258 pages. An unabridged republication of the 1937 English edition of this classic book on musical sounds. It conveys precise information in a non-technical way for anyone interested in music. Includes the various means of producing sounds, hearing, scales, intonation, types of tuning, the concert hall, orchestras and many more topics.

G08. Schirmer Pronouncing Pocket Manual of Musical Terms edited by Theodore Baker, Nicolas Slonimsky, and Laura Kuhn. Schirmer, PB, 362 pages. This is a small (3 inches by 4 inches), extremely useful, and inexpensive reference. Includes elements of notation, notes and rests, the staff, clefs, scales, chromatic signs, intervals, keys, chords, time signatures, rules for pronouncing German, French, and Italian, a comparative table of tempo marks, musical terms (263 pages), and noteworthy musicians (76 pages)

5.95

G71. Selected Audition Masterclasses. Windplayer Publications, 2004, SS, 32 pages. Written by 15 top experts (such as Don Greene and Barry Green) who work throughout the music field, this book starts with techniques that help you overcome your first audition jitters and continues with how you can be better prepared for any audition in the music field, including the country's leading orchestras. No matter what instrument you play. You'll even learn how players are able to get professional jobs without performing an actual audition!

G41: Selected Breathing Masterclasses. Windplayer Publications, 2002, SS, 32 pages. These 15 essential lessons feature information, tips, advice and specific exercises you can do to gain better control of your breathing. Each in-depth lesson is given by a recognized expert in their field and features step-by-step instructions. Written in clear and easy-to-understand language, Selected Breathing Masterclasses is a definitive manual you will refer to time-and-time again.

12.95

G28. A Soprano on Her Head by Eloise Ristad. Real People Press, 1982, PB, 204 pages. Eloise Ristad deals with complex problems that torment and cripple many of our most creative and talented people, and she does so with compassion, wisdom, and wit. The problems of stage fright and other petty and debilitating fears are a suffering of epidemic proportions in our society that rob spontaneity and enthusiasm in artistic performance. The author supplies answers and methods for overcoming these universal psychological blocks—methods that have not only been proven in her own studio, but which trace back through history to the oldest and wisest systems of understanding the integration of mind and body.

16.50

G40. The Structures and Movement of Breathing by Barbara Conable. Gia Publications, 2000, SS, 48 pages. While this book is subtitled: "A Primer for Choirs and Choruses," it is also very useful for players of wind instruments. It provides clear and concise information about breathing and features dozens of detailed illustrations and explanations. This book is based on the technique of Body Mapping.

7.50

G72. The Well-Tempered Announcer, A Pronunciation Guide to Classical Music by Robert A. Fradkin. Indiana University Press, 1996, PB, 255 pages. In this innovative guide, Robert Fradkin provides the pronunciation of over 2000 personal names, titles of works, and musical terms. In addition, at least half the book is devoted to general pronunciation guidelines for both familiar and unfamiliar languages, giving the reader the tools to pronounce words which are not listed.

32.95

G34. What Every Musician Needs to Know about the Body by Barbara Conable. Andover Press, 2000, SB, 101 pages. A book about Body Mapping and the kinesthetic sense and how they can be developed in ways that help musicians play well. It is full of information about the Alexander Technique, but it is very useful for people who don't have access to an Alexander teacher as well. Heavily illustrated.

21.50

G19. You Are Your Instrument by Julie Lyonn Lieberman. Huiksi Music, New York, 1991, printing of 1997, PB, 152 pages. A detailed guide to mind and especially the body of the musician. It provides guidance to help musicians heal existing injuries and develop a more enjoyable physical/mental experience during practice and performance. It includes anatomy charts and 19 pages of illustrated exercises.

19.95

G59. The Young Musician's Survival Guide by Amy Nathan. Oxford University Press, 2000, PB, 128 pages. This book will help young people cope with difficulties involved in learning a new instrument and remaining dedicated to playing and practicing. Teens from renowned music programs join pro musicians such as Wynton Marsalis, Paula Robison, and James Galway in offering practical answer to questions from what instrument to play to where the musical road may lead. Probably most suited for ages 11-14.
